STONEWALL JACKSON

has made too profound an impression for the public not to devour with avidity an authentic life. Poor compilations may be gotten up by authors without access to authentic documents, but this is a life written by a Confederate officer (Hon. JOHN M. DANIELS) who knew him well, served under him in his brilliant career, was assisted in the work by Mrs. Jackson, and had access to all his papers. It gives minutely all the details of his campaigns, filled with thrilling incidents and interesting narratives, and is written with great ability, forming a volume of intense and absorbing interest, unequaled by any other yet offered to the public.

It contains the only authentic Portrait of JACKSON, taken from life, shortly before the battle of Chancellorsville, for Mrs. Jackson.

COMPANION TO POLLARD'S "FIRST YEAR OF THE WAR."
1 Volume 8vo., 600 pp. Cloth, $2 50.

AUTHENTIC PORTRAIT OF GENERAL BEAUREGARD,
Finely Executed on Steel.

An exact reprint of the official Confederate reports of battles, raids, and seiges, which are of the greatest interest and importance. They will command the attention of multitudes of readers in all parts, who are desirous of knowing the Southern history of the war.

The New-York Times says:

"This is a volume of extraordinary interest, being nothing less than the rebel official statements of battles, for the account of which we have heretofore had to rely upon the reports of our own officers and descriptions of newspaper correspondents.

The whole collection will be found exceedingly valuable as a companion volume of our own reports on the Conduct of the War; and Mr. Richardson deserves great credit for getting it out in this very convenient and handsome shape."

THE REBEL PIRATES.

Enthusiastic Reception Extended to the Confederates.

More American Vessels Captured and Destroyed.

Proceedings of Capt. Semmes' Admiralty Court.

Spicy Correspondence Between U. S. Consul Graham and Gov. Wodehouse.

We have received a copy of the Cape Town Mail of Aug. 19, giving full details of the operations of the Alabama, Georgia and the Tuscaloosa at the Cape of Good Hope, and make the following extracts. It says:

"On the 27th of July, no little excitement was caused in Cape Town on the arrival of the coasting schooner Rover, from Walwich Bay, with the news that the Confederate steamer Alabama had actually made her appearance about twenty-five miles off Green Point. Her Captain reported that he was stopped and boarded by a boat from the steamer, which asked them who they were and where they were from. After looking over the schooner's papers, the officer in command made inquiries as to the landing accommodation of Walwich and Saldanha Bays, and if they had seen or knew whether there were any American ships in Table Bay. Having met with civil replies from the schooner, he apologized for her detention and left, and the steamer proceeded in a southeasterly direction.

Nothing further was heard, and it was thought by some that she had proceeded on to the eastward; but on the afternoon of Aug. 4 public excitement was again aroused, on the arrival of the schooner Atlas, Capt. BOYCE, from Saldanha Bay, with the intelligence that the Alabama was lying snugly at anchor in that bay, repairing. By the same opportunity the following letter was received by His Excellency the Governor from her commander, Capt. SEMMES:

CONFEDERATE STATES STEAMER ALABAMA,
SALDANHA BAY, Aug. 1, 1863.

His Excellency Sir Philip Wodehouse, Governor, &c.:

SIR: An opportunity is offered me by the coasting steamer Atlas to communicate with the Cape, of which I promptly avail myself.

I have the honor to inform your Excellency that I arrived in this bay on Wednesday morning last, for the purpose of effecting some necessary repairs. As soon as these repairs can be completed I will proceed to sea; and in the meantime your Excellency may rest assured that I will pay the strictest attention to the neutrality of your Government.

I have the honor to be, &c.,
R. SEMMES, Captain C. S. Navy.

This letter was soon made public, and a copy of it immediately sent, by telegraph, to Admiral Sir BALDWIN WALKER at Simon's Bay. Tuesday passed, but the Alabama had not made her appearance yet.

About noon on the following day (Wednesday) an American bark was signalized as standing into Table Bay from the southwest. Almost immediately after, a bark-rigged steamer was made down as standing in from the northwest. The stoop of the Exchange and the space round the signalman's office behind the Custom-house, and all other places from which the signals could be made out, were soon crowded; and when the name of the steamer was made down the excitement passed all bounds. The news spread through Cape Town like wild-fire: 'The Alabama is outside the Bay in chase of an American bark!'"

The Mail then goes into as detailed a description of the chase of the Sea Bride, and of her subsequent surrender, as if the affair had been a grand naval battle between the English and French navies. Having completed the capture, the Alabama steamed into Table Bay, where she was received with the greatest possible demonstrations of curiosity and enthusiasm. The editor of the Mail went with the crowd and paid his respects to Capt. SEMMES. He thus describes what he saw:

"The Captain's cabin is in the very stern of the ship, and in shape just a half moon. It is very small, and plainly furnished. A horse-hair sofa runs round the little horse-shoe table in the centre. There is only room besides for two or three chairs, and a little sideboard or buffet opening into the steward's pantry as well as the cabin. On the ledge, or shelf running round the back of the sofa, are ranged between fifty and sixty chronometers, taken out of the different ships captured and destroyed by the Alabama. Her Captain's charts and those taken from her prizes are stowed away in great profusion behind the chronometers, against the bulk-heads and cross-beams, or litter the floor, sofa, table, and chairs. A colored engraving of the Alabama, and small photographic portraits of DAVIS, LEE, and two or three other Confederate celebrities, hang against the panels. A door at one side opens into the Captain's sleeping apartment, in which, beside the narrow bunk with drawers beneath, there is barely room for a strong box, chair, and wash-stand. On the opposite side a door opens into a similar little cabin occupied by the Captain's Secretary. 'Take a seat if you can find one,' said the Captain, good-humoredly apologising for the scanty accommodation, 'ours is a working, fighting ship, and we have not much room to spare for ease or pleasure.' At first sight Capt. SEMMES does not come up to the idea which every one involuntarily forms of any celebrated character. He has nothing of the pirate about him—little even of the ordinary sea-captain. He is rather below the middle stature, with a spare bony frame. His face is care-worn and sunburnt, the features striking—a broad brow with iron-gray locks straggling over it, gray eyes, now mild and dreamy, then flashing with fire as he warms in conversation, prominent nose, thin, compressed lips and well-developed chin. He is close-shaved, with the exception of a gray moustache, twisted, à la NAPOLEON, above the corners of his mouth. He was dressed in an old stained gray uniform, the surtout, with battered shoulder-straps and faded gold trimmings, buttoned close up to the throat. In look, manners and dress he had more of the military than the naval officer about him. He is 58 years of age, but looks somewhat older.

Of the conversation which he had with the Captain, the editor of the Mail says:

"He said he felt convinced, and was gratified to know that the feeling of the great majority of the people in England was strongly in favor of the acknowledgment of the independence of the Southern States; and, though he did not blame, he could not conceive why the Government did not, by simply acknowledging that independence, and without any more active interference, hasten the termination of the war. He believed that Earl RUSSELL was too sympathetic or concessive to the North; while Lord PALMERSTON was such a cold and shrewd politician, that, if he had any sympathies or feelings, he never would show them, even if his life depended upon it. But he was convinced that the Confederates would very speedily force that acknowledgment from the British Government 'in spite of the rant of white-chokered negrophilists, who believe that we Southerners are a set of heathen slave-drivers, pirates and cut-throats.' He indignantly repelled the charge that they were rebels—the States were sovereign powers, merely connected for certain special purposes; they could secede from the Republic at any time they found that the contract which had been entered into had been broken. The Northern States had broken faith with them, and thus dissolved the Union; it was not their act. He even carried this doctrine of State sovereignty so far as to admit that any one of the Southern States had the right at any time, during or after the war, to secede from the recently-formed Confederacy if it was dissatisfied with the terms of union.

The officers of the Alabama are: Lieut. J. McIntosh Kell, who was at this port in 1852, in the U. S. steamer Susquehannah; Lieuts. Armstrong, Wilson and Sinclair; Surgeon and Paymaster Galt; Master J. S. Bullock; Lieut. Howell, Marines, (brother-in-law of President Davis;) Assistant Surgeon Llewellyn; Chief Engineer Freeman; Assistant Engineers Brooks, O'Brien, Pundt; Midshipmen E. A. Mafitt (son of the commander of the Florida) and E. M. Anderson; Masters' Assistants Fulham and Evans; Boatswain McCoskie; Gunner Cuddy; Carpenter Robinson; Alcott, Sailmaker; and Capt. Semmes' Secretary, Mr. Smith.

The most of the crew are regular British tars. Many of them have served in the English Navy. They are not only trained to the guns, but are drilled as marines. They are all most formidably armed with rifles, revolvers and cutlasses, and are very expert in the use of all these weapons. They say that the Vanderbilt or other ship of equal weight and armament may run the Alabama down, or sink her with their guns, but if they attempt to lay alongside and board her, none of their men will reach her decks."

On Saturday, Aug. 8, the Mail states that the Alabama left Table Bay for Simon's Bay. As she left the harbor, the bark Kedron, from Baltimore, and the Charles Colgate, schooner, from New-London, entered. Having been informed of their danger, they hugged the shore, and thus eluded the pirate. The Martha Wentrel, from Ayab, was seized, but was released when it was proved that she was less than a league from shore. The Alabama finally reached Simon's Bay, where she effected some repairs, and left again on Saturday, Aug. 15, on a cruise.

CAPT. SEMMES' PRIZE COURTS.

The Mail gives a detailed report of the cruisings of the Alabama, but states no new facts. It publishes "extracts from the proceedings of the Admiralty Court held on board of the Alabama, Capt. SEMMES presiding," which are certainly curiosities in their way. The following is one of these reports:

Captors against Schooner "Crenshaw"—Ship and Cargo Condemned.

This vessel was captured under the North American flag, and had on board a North American register; there is therefore no question as to the ship. There has been an attempt to cover the cargo, but without success. The shippers are FRANCIS MCDONALD & CO., of the State of New-York, and Mr. JAMES HUTCHINSON, also of New-York, who deposes before the British Consul, "that the goods specified in the annexed bills of lading were shipped on board the schooner Crenshaw, for and on account of subjects of Her British Majesty; and that the said goods are wholly and bona fide the property of British subjects." No British subject is named in the deposition, and therefore no person is entitled to claim under it. Therefore even admitting the goods to have been purchased on British account, the shipper has not divested himself of the possession by a proper consignment under a proper bill of lading. The property is consigned to the order of the shipper, which leaves it entirely under his control, and it having left the port of New-York as his property, the title cannot be changed while the property is in transitu.

As to the first point, to wit, the failure to point out some particular British owner of the property, see 3d Phillimore, 596, to the following effect: "If in a ship's papers, property on a voyage from an enemy's port be described 'for neutral account,' this is such a general mode as points to no designation whatever; and under such a description, no person can say what cargo belongs to him or can entitle himself to the possession of it as his property,' &c.

As to the second point, to wit, the failure on the part of the shipper to divest himself of the title and control of the property by a proper bill of lading, see 3d Phillimore, p. 1612, as follows: "In ordinary shipments of goods unaffected by the foregoing principles, the question of proprietory interest often turns on minute circumstances and distinctions, the general principles being that if they are going for account of the shipper, or subject to his order or control, the property is not divested in transitu."

THE CAPTURES.

The following is a complete list of the captures of the Alabama: Ockmulgee, Starlight, Ocean Rover, Alert, Weathergange, Altamaha, Benjamin Tucker, Courser, Virginia, Elisha Dunbar, Brilliant, Emily Farnum, Wave Crest, Dunquirque, Manchester, Tonawanda, Lamplighter, La Fayette, Crenshaw, Lauretta, Baron de Castine, Levi Starbuck, T. B. Wales, Martha, Union, mail steamer Ariel, United States gunboat Hatteras, Golden Rule, Chastelaine, Palmetto, Golden Eagle, Olive Jane, Washington, Bethia Thayer, J. A. Parker, Punjaub, Morning Star, King Fisher, Charles Hill, Nora, Louisa Hatch, Lafayette, Kate Corey, Nye, Dorcas Price, Lelah, Union Jack, S. Gildersleeve, J. Snow, Justina, Amazonian, Talisman, Conrad, A. F. Schmidt, Express, Sea Bride.

THE TUSCALOOSA AND GEORGIA.

Regarding the other rebel pirates the Mail has these particulars:

"The Tuscaloosa is another of the Confederate cruisers which has lately paid a visit to Simon's Bay, where she received some supplies, and from whence she sailed a few days ago. From information which has been supplied us by the officers of the Alabama, we learn that the vessel which now passes under the name of the Tuscaloosa was a Federal merchantman, which was captured while on a voyage from Buenos Ayres to New-York with a cargo of wool. The Alabama had previously captured the Talisman, bound from New-York to China, and with an armament of four brass guns, which was transferred to the Tuscaloosa. Mr. LOWE, the third officer of the Alabama, with a crew, were put on board, and the Confederate flag was hoisted. Since then the Tuscaloosa has been cruising in various directions; and off the coast here she captured the Santee and chased the Snow Squall. The latter vessel, owing to her superior sailing qualities, made good her escape. It may be mentioned that the Tuscaloosa is only armed with small brass guns; but upon the forward portion of the deck is what appears to be a 120-pounder Blakeley gun. It is mounted in the same manner as those upon the Alabama, and when seen by a vessel attempting to escape has no doubt an ugly look; but a closer inspection would suffice to prove how perfectly harmless is this formidable looking piece, for it is simply made of wood and painted over a beautiful black. The crew of the Tuscaloosa are fond of their big gun, and have christened it 'The fighting Joe Hooker.'

The Confederate steamer Georgia is now in Simon's Bay, which port she reached on Sunday afternoon. She was built by Messrs. DENNY & Co., of Greenock. Her officers joined her off Ushant Island on the 9th of April, on which day she finished getting her armament on board, hauled down the English and ran up the Confederate flag. She then put to sea."

The list of captures made by the Georgia, as given by the Mail, comprises only those which have already been reported.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE AMERICAN CONSUL WITH GOV. WODEHOUSE.

The Mail publishes a long correspondence between the United States Consul at Cape Town, WALTER GRAHAM, and Gov. WODEHOUSE, relative to these proceedings. Mr. GRAHAM opens the correspondence as follows:

UNITED STATES CONSULATE,
CAPE TOWN, Aug. 4, 1863.

His Excellency Sir Philip E. Wodehouse, Governor of Cape Colony, &c., &c.:

SIR: From reliable information received by me, and which you are also doubtless in receipt of, a war-steamer called the Alabama is now in Saldanha Bay, being painted, discharging prisoners of war, &c. The vessel in question was built in England to prey upon the commerce of the United States of America, and escaped therefrom while on a trial trip, forfeiting bonds of £20,000, which the British Government exacted under the Foreign Enlistment act. Now, as your Government has a treaty of amity and commerce with the United States, and has not recognized the persons in revolt against the United States as a Government at all, the vessel alluded to should be at once seized and sent to England, from whence she clandestinely escaped. Assuming that the British Government was sincere in exacting the bonds, you have doubtless been instructed to send her home to England, where she belongs.

But if from some oversight you have not received instructions, and you decline the responsibility of making a seizure, I would most respectfully protest against the vessel remaining in any port of the Colony another day. She has been four [six] days in one bay of the Colony already, and a week previously on the coast within three leagues of land, and has forfeited all right to remain an hour longer by this breach of neutrality. Painting a ship does not come under the head of "necessary repairs," and is no proof that she is "unseaworthy;" and to allow her to visit other ports after she has set the Queen's Proclamation upon the subject of belligerent rights at defiance, would not be regarded as in accordance with the spirit and purpose of that document. Yours, with most distinguished consideration and obedience,

WALTER GRAHAM, U. S. Consul.

The Governor replied through his Secretary:

COLONIAL OFFICE, Aug. 5, 1863.

Walter Graham, Esq., United States Consul, Cape Town:

SIR: I am directed by the Governor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of yesterday's date, relative to the Alabama.

His Excellency has no instructions, neither has he any authority to seize or detain that vessel; and he desires me to acquaint you that he has received a letter from her commander, dated the 1st inst., stating that repairs were in progress, and that as soon as they were completed he intended to go to sea. He further announces his intention of respecting strictly the neutrality of the British Government.

The course which Capt. SEMMES here proposes to take is, in the Governor's opinion, in conformity with the instructions he has himself received relative to ships of war and privateers belonging to the United States and the States calling themselves the Confederate States of America visiting British ports. The reports received from Saldanha Bay induce the Governor to believe that the vessel will leave that harbor as soon as her repairs are completed; but he will immediately on receiving any intelligence to the contrary, take the necessary steps for enforcing the rules laid down by Her Majesty's Government. I have the honor to be, Sir, your obedient servant,

L. ADAMSON,
for the Colonial Secretary.

The correspondence continued, until finally the Governor states his position thus explicitly:

COLONIAL OFFICE, Aug. 7.

I am directed by the Governor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of this date, inclosing two affidavits relating to the Sea Bride, and to state that His Excellency is not prepared to admit that the fact of that vessel having been brought by the prize crew within one and a half miles of the Green Point Lighthouse "was a violation of the neutrality, as much as if the capture had taken place at the same distance from land," although both the belligerents are prohibited from bringing their prizes into British ports.

The Governor does not feel warranted in taking steps for the removal of the prize crew from the Sea Bride.

Mr. GRAHAM replied:

U. S. CONSULATE, CAPE TOWN, Aug. 10, 1863.

SIR: Your decision in the case of the Sea Bride was duly received at 4 o'clock P. M. on Saturday. In communicating that decision, you simply announce that the vessel was, in your opinion, and according to the evidence before you, a legal prize to the Alabama; but you omit to state the principle of international law that governed your decision, and neglect to furnish me with the evidence relied upon by you. Under these circumstances I can neither have the evidence verified or rebutted here; nor am I enabled to transmit it, as it stands, to the American Minister at London, or the United States Government at Washington. An invitation to be present when the testimony was taken was not extended to me; and I am therefore ignorant of the tenor of it, and cannot distinguish the portion thrown out from that which was accepted. If your decision is that the neutral waters of this colony extend to a distance of only three miles from land, the character of that decision would have been aptly illustrated to the people of Cape Town had an American war-vessel appeared on the scene during the capture of the Sea Bride, and engaged the Alabama in battle. In such a contest with cannon carrying a distance of six miles (three over land), the crashing buildings in Cape Town would have been an excellent commentary on your decision.

But the decision has been made and cannot be revoked here, and further comment is therefore unnecessary. It can only be reversed by the Government you represent, which it probably will be when the United States Government shall demand indemnity to the owners of the Sea Bride.

An armed vessel named the Tuscaloosa, claiming to act under the so-called Confederate States, entered Simon's Bay on Saturday, the 8th instant. That vessel was formerly owned by citizens of the United States, and while engaged in lawful commerce was captured as a prize by the Alabama. She was subsequently fitted out with arms by the Alabama to prey upon the commerce of the United States; and now, without being condemned as a prize by any Admiralty Court of any recognized Government, she is permitted to enter a neutral port in violation of the Queen's proclamation, with her original cargo on board. Against this proceeding I hereby most emphatically protest, and I claim that the vessel ought to be given up to her lawful owners."

To this the Governor replied:

"The Governor is not aware, nor do you refer him to the provision of International law by which captured vessels as soon as they enter neutral ports revert to their real owners, and are forfeited to their captors. But His Excellency believes that the claims of contending parties to vessels captured can only be determined in the first instance by the Courts of the captors' country."

Consul GRAHAM closed the correspondence with a letter dated Aug. 17, reasserting his first position and closing thus:

"The Tuscaloosa remained in St. Simon's Bay seven days, with her original cargo of skins and wool on board. This cargo, I am informed by those who claim to know, is sold to merchants in Cape Town, and if it should be landed directly in a port of this colony, or transferred to another vessel in some secluded island beyond the precincts of the colony, the infringement of neutrality will be so palpable and flagrant that Her Majesty's Government will probably satisfy the claim of her owners to indemnity at once, and thus gracefully remove all cause of complaint. In so doing it will necessarily have to condemn and repudiate the acts of its Executive agents here—a result which I have done all in my power to prevent.

Even greater cause of complaint will exist should the cargo of the Sea Bride be disposed of in the same manner, as I have reason to apprehend it will be when negotiations are concluded; for, being originally captured in neutral waters, the thin guise of neutrality would be utterly torn into shreds by the sale of the cargo here.

The Georgia, a Confederate war steamer, arrived in Simon's Bay yesterday, and another vessel of the same class, named the Florida, has arrived, or is hourly expected, at Saldanha Bay, where she may remain for a week without your knowledge, as the place is very secluded. The Alabama remained here in Table Bay for nearly four days, and at Simon's Bay six days; and as the Tuscaloosa was allowed to remain at the latter port seven days, I apprehend that the Georgia and Florida will meet with similar or greater favors. Under these circumstances further protests from me would seem to be unavailing; and I only put the facts upon record for the benefit of my own Government and officials possessing diplomatic functions.

DESTRUCTION OF THE SHIPS ANNA F. SCHMIDT AND EXPRESS.

From the Shipping Gazette, Sept. 24.

The ship Star of Erin, EWING, of Belfast, from Calcutta, has arrived in the East India Dock, having on board Capt. HENRY B. TWAMBY, late of the Anna F. Schmidt, of Kennebunk, from Boston for San Francisco, and Capt. FROST and his wife, of the Express, of Boston, (U. S.,) from Callao for Antwerp, which ships were burnt by the Alabama, (a Confederate cruiser.)

REPORT OF CAPT. TWAMBY.

Capt. TWAMBY, of the Anna F. Schmidt, reports that the ship left Boston on Jan. 17, and put into St. Thomas, in consequence of stress of weather, to repair. Left the island on the 3d of May, and on the 2d of July, in the morning, about lat. 25° 29′ S., lon. 37° 46′ W., saw a steamer astern flying an American flag, and after she had fired a gun, ordered the colors to be hoisted, and hauled the ship to. After the second gun had been fired the steamer came alongside, and an armed boat's crew came on board, and the officer ordered the American flag to be hauled down, and I was requested to take my register and papers and go in a boat alongside to the steamer. Upon arrival, Capt. SEMMES, the Commander of the steamer, which proved to be the Alabama, ordered me to cabin, and, after examining the papers, declared the Anna F. Schmidt to be a lawful prize to the Confederate States Government, and said that he should burn her. I was then allowed to return to the ship, and fifteen minutes were given me to put together a trunk of clothes and a writing-desk; and then, with the officers and crew, (who were allowed a small bag of clothes each,) I returned to the Alabama. The officers and men were put into irons on deck, and remained so during the time I was upon the Alabama. After the steamer's officers and men had pillaged the ship of such portions of her cargo and stores as they required during a period of eight hours, they burnt her. I was allowed the freedom of the steamer's deck, around the mainmast. On the 6th of July the ship Express, of Boston, Capt. WILLIAM FROST, Master, was burnt by the Alabama. On the 22d of July, having hailed the ship Star of Erin, of Belfast, Ireland, Capt. SEMMES gave me, and Capt. FROST and his wife, permission to go into the boat to the said ship and try and make arrangements for our passage in her, as he intended to cruise about that neighborhood for some time. Upon the boat's arrival alongside of the Star of Erin, the officer in charge told Capt. EWING, her Master, that Capt. SEMMES had no desire to be at variance with the British Government, but requested that he would take Capt. FROST, his wife, and myself as passengers to the first port he would touch at. Capt. EWING told him he had no accommodation for passengers, and did not know where to put us. The officer again requested him to take us, and he ultimately did so. We left the Alabama in about lat. 31° south, lon. 12° 46′ east. Capt. EWING very kindly and courteously treated us throughout the time we were upon his ship; and, although he had no accommodation for us, endeavored to make up the deficiency by every attention in his power, and finally brought us to London.

REPORT OF CAPT. FROST.

Capt. W. FROST, of the Express, reports that the ship left the Chincha Islands on the 5th of March, with 1,800 tons of guano, consigned to Messrs. SESCAU & Co., of Antwerp. The ship was chartered in Boston, United States, by SESCAU & Co., of Antwerp, and SESCAU, VALLEVIANO & Co., of Lima, Peru. The Express was cleared for the port of Lima, where the French Consul certified on the back of the bill of lading to the cargo, under the French Consular seal, that the cargo of guano then on board was neutral property, which no citizen of the United States of America had any other interest in than that of a common carrier. After leaving Lima very heavy weather was encountered, which caused considerable damage to the ship, and made jettison necessary for the safety of the ship and cargo; that the damage was of so extensive a nature as to require the ship to be taken into port to repair, and she went into Valparaiso. On the 25th of April again proceeded on the voyage for Antwerp. After passing Cape Horn, on the 6th of July, at 1 o'clock A.M., in lat. 29° S., long. 31° 40′ W., the discharge of a gun was heard on the lee beam. The weather was cloudy and thick, with but little wind. In about ten minutes after the first gun was fired, the discharge of a second was heard, and shortly after a third, which was shotted. Though no sail or hull could be seen from the Express, it was supposed the guns were signals of distress from some vessel requiring assistance, and judged to be about three miles off. To render such relief as I might be able, I bore away in search of the supposed distressed ship. In a short time a steamer was discovered heaving to, but showing no colors or signals. The Express being large, and having all sail set, and perhaps, also, owing to her position, she was first seen from the steamer. The Express was soon boarded by an officer and boat's crew, armed with cutlasses and revolvers. The boarding officer was the master's mate, who said his name was LULHAM, and that he was an Englishman, and hailed from London. He declared the Express to be a prize to the Confederate States ship Alabama, and took possession of her, and run her under the stern of the steamer. I was ordered to take my papers to the Alabama. An officer met me on the gangway as I went on board, who conducted me to the Captain's cabin, where I found Capt. SEMMES, who looked over the ship's papers. I directed his attention to the certificate of the French Consul on the back of the Bill of Lading, declaring, under the French seal, the cargo to be neutral property. He replied, "It's only a mere word," and, turning to his First Lieutenant, said, "Mr. KELL, we will burn this ship." I told him it was certainly neutral property, and I requested to have my declaration on oath to that effect taken. Capt. SEMMES' clerk then administered the oath, declaring the cargo to be neutral property, which oath was recorded by the clerk in a book. Finding that Capt. SEMMES would pay no attention to the nationality of my cargo, and was determined to burn the ship, I offered to give an indemnity bond if he would release her, but he declined, and I received the impression from officers that everything bearing the American flag was to be burned. I was then ordered back to my ship to bring my wife on board the Alabama. I was permitted to take a portion of my clothing, but all was taken from me on board the Alabama but what I had on, and a portion of Mrs. FROST's clothing was also taken. The officers and crew were allowed to take one bag of clothing each. They were taken on board the Alabama and put in irons on deck, in which condition they were kept day and night while I was on board. The ship's papers, log, letters to consignees, and a private mail from the ship Shackamaxon, were burnt. We were on board the Alabama sixteen days, when we were put on board the ship Star of Erin.

ASPECT OF THE POLISH QUESTION.

Commercial and Financial Intelligence.

The Royal mail steamship Persia, Capt. LOTT, which sailed from Liverpool at 8½ on the morning of the 26th, and from Queenstown on the afternoon of the 27th of September, arrived here yesterday.

The steamer New-York arrived at Southampton on the evening of the 24th ultimo.

The Africa arrived at Queenstown at 9 o'clock on the evening of the 25th ult.

The English Channel fleet left Liverpool for Dublin on the 25th ult., after a stay of ten days in the Mersey. One of the vessels (the frigate Liverpool) remained behind for the purpose, it is rumored, of watching the suspected iron-clad rams in the Mersey.

It is stated in the city article of the Times that the two Blakely guns which were taken into Charleston on the 23d of August by the Gibraltar steamer, weighed about 20 tons each. The diameter of the breech is 4 feet 1 inch, and at the muzzle 2 feet 1 inch, and they will throw a 700-pound shot. They are constructed on Capt. BLAKELY's principle, which has been found highly powerful in other guns used by the Confederates. One of these guns, it will be remembered, was burst a few days since, and it is said that BEAUREGARD has no faith in the other.

Sir E. BULWER LYTTON in the course of a speech at Hitchen, laughed at the idea of Canada being invited in the present deplorable state of America to ally herself with the Northern States.

The Federal war steamer Vanderbilt left St. Helena on the 20th of August. She was said to be in pursuit of the Alabama.

THE WITHDRAWAL OF MR. MASON.

MR. MASON'S LETTER TO EARL RUSSELL.

The Index, the London organ of the Secessionists, publishes the text of the letter in which Mr. MASON announces the termination of the Confederate mission to England:

NO. 24 UPPER SEYMOUR-STREET, PORTMAN-SQUARE,
LONDON, Sept. 21, 1863.

Right Hon. Earl Russell, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs:

MY LORD: In a dispatch from the Secretary of State of the Confederate States of America, dated the 4th day of August last, and now just received, I am instructed to consider the mission which brought me to England as at an end, and I am directed to withdraw at once from this country.

The reasons for terminating this mission are set forth in an extract from the dispatch which I have the honor to communicate herewith.

The President believes that "the Government of Her Majesty has determined to decline the overtures made through you for establishing, by treaty, friendly relations between the two Governments, and entertains no intention of receiving you as the accredited Minister of this Government near the British Court. Under these circumstances, your continued residence in London is neither conducive to the interests nor consistent with the dignity of this Government, and the President therefore requests that you consider your mission at an end, and that you withdraw with your Secretary from London."

Having made known to your Lordship on my arrival here the character and purposes of the mission intrusted to me by my Government, I have deemed it due to courtesy thus to make known to the Government of Her Majesty its termination, and that I shall, as directed, at once withdraw from England. I have the honor to be

Your Lordship's very obedient servant.
(Signed.) J. M. MASON.

COMMENTS OF THE REBEL ORGAN.

On this the Index makes the following comments (supposed to be "inspired,") setting forth several reasons for the withdrawal, which are not embodied in Mr. MASON's letter:

"Mr. SLIDELL, we understand, will remain in France as Special Commissioner to that Government. Nor is it at all contemplated to terminate that mission; and yet France, equally with England, has so far refrained from entering into any international relations with the Confederate States. All England will admit that the Government of those States is in the hands of able, experienced and judicious statesmen; and we are sufficiently conversant with Southern circles and Southern men to know that, with other marked differences between the sections North and South, in America, there exists this—that in the South the general feeling to England has been one of good-will and respect.

There must be, then, some overruling cause for the difference thus made between France and England, in the termination of one mission, and not the other. To those at all conversant with what is passing in the Southern States, this is no mystery. Mr. Slidell has been received and uniformly treated by the Government of France with every mark of consideration and respect for the Government he represents. There may be grave reasons regarding policy or public law why France, like England, may not deem it incumbent as yet to recognize those States as an independent political Power; but their representative has been freely admitted to every form of intercourse with the Government of France, to personal interviews with the Emperor whenever he has asked for them, with immediate access to all or any of the Ministry at first request. This would indeed seem but an ordinary courtesy to a gentleman in his position; the refusal of it would be more than a discourtesy—it would be an actual indignity to those whose representative he is.

In England Mr. MASON has been held by the Government in the very opposite position. His correspondence with the Foreign Office laid before the Congress at Richmond, we know from the Southern Press, produced a feeling of deep and universal indignation. It showed that with the exception of a single and formal interview with Earl RUSSELL on his arrival, appointed at his residence, and not at the Foreign Office, he had been admitted to no intercourse whatever."

It showed further that to all outward or other manifestation the presence of a Confederate Commissioner in London was no further recognized than by brief replies to such communications as he was from time to time instructed to make to the Minister of this Government.

Whilst we sincerely regret, therefore, the necessity which has imposed on President DAVIS the duty of terminating the Confederate Commission to England, we are bound to admit that his forbearance has been tested to the utmost.

Earl RUSSELL has now succeeded in establishing absolute non-intercourse with the Confederate States—those States where our commerce has found sources of incalculable wealth and profitable employment for countless millions of our capital, with like profitable employment for hundreds of thousands of the people of England. We say absolute non-intercourse, because we know, through the Press, that of the three British Consuls who remained in the Southern States, exercising their functions by permission of the Government there, Mr. BUNCH, at Charleston, and Mr. MCGEE, at Mobile, were recalled by this Government; and Mr. MOORE, at Richmond, was dismissed by the Confederate Government for contumacy.

It remains to be known hereafter what advantages France may derive from a course of policy more consistent with her own self-respect and with national decorum.

The London Globe ridicules this kind of argument, and says there is no courtesy or discourtesy in the matter—it is all policy. For reasons which he alone knows, the Emperor of the French confers with Mr. SLIDELL; for reasons which we all know, Earl RUSSELL has not conferred with Mr. MASON.

THE FRENCH PRESS.

The Patrie, of Sept. 23, asserts that the reason for Mr. MASON's leaving London is the difficulty raised by Earl RUSSELL upon the subject of the ships building in English ports for the Confederates.

The Opinion Nationale, noticing Mr. MASON's withdrawal from London to Paris, says: "This step indicates a drawing nearer together of England and the United States. We hope it does not presage any new attempt in favor of the recognition of the Confederate States by France."

THE GALWAY LINE.

From the European Times.

The Hibernia, in her first trip, has not realized the hopes of the friends of the Galway line. On her outward voyage she succeeded in reaching her destination within a few hours of the contract time. But on her return she was twenty hours late, and has incurred the heavy penalties prescribed in the contract, her news having been all anticipated by the Persia, which started at the same time and won the race. The passengers were seventy in number, of which thirty were "stowaways," who had gone out from Galway in the Adriatic on the 1st instant. They were landed at St. John's, N. F., on the 8th, and detained there till the 11th, when they were put on board the Hibernia, and brought back to their native land, having been well fed at the expense of the Company "there and back." Another contest is expected between the Scotia, of the Cunard line, which is to leave on the 23d instant, and the Adriatic, which is to leave on the 23d. It is important for the Galway line to establish a prestige for fast sailing; for if we do not receive letters and newspapers earlier by starting from the nearest port to America the object for which the subsidy was granted will not be realized.

FRANCE.

The Nation gives a report that Baron GROS was to be replaced in the London Mission, but no successor is named.

Prince NAPOLEON was about to leave for London, and he was said to be intrusted with a mission relative to Poland.

The Bourse on the 25th was flat. Rentes closed at 67.45.

THE ALABAMA.

HER RECOGNITION AS A SHIP-OF-WAR—DECISION OF THE BORDEAUX TRIBUNAL OF COMMERCE—THE PLAINTIFFS NON-SUITED AND CAST IN THE COSTS.

From the Opinion Nationale, of the 25th ult., we translate the following highly important official decision:

"In the eyes of France, the Northern States and the Southern States of the American Union are belligerents, that is to say, two nations in a state of war.

The Union, not having accepted the declaration of the Congress of Paris abolishing privateering, has a right to issue letters-of-marque.

The vessel Alabama, carrying the flag of the Southern States, cannot be regarded as a pirate, but merely as a privateer, since she respects neutrals and makes use of force against none but the enemies of the Confederates.

Hence, the burning at sea of a ship and of the merchandise it contains, constitutes an act of warfare for which the insurers are not responsible without a special agreement.

Upon the above premises, the judgment is thus rendered:

Whereas, By the policy of the 10th of January last, DELMAS & LAFONT insured 200 cases of wine destined for New-York, on board of the packet ship Olive Jane, Capt. HALLOCK, and whereas this insurance covered the ordinary risks of navigation, without embracing the risks of war, as the parties acknowledge;

Whereas, In the course of her voyage from Bordeaux to New-York, the Olive Jane having been met by the steamer Alabama, carrying the flag of the Confederate States of the South, was boarded, and the ship and cargo were fired and the consequence of this event was the total loss of the merchandise belonging to DELMAS & LAFONT, who considered themselves entitled to claim its value from the Indemnity Insurance Company in accordance with Article 1 of the policy of insurance guaranteeing them from capture and molestation by pirates as also from the barratry of the master;

Whereas, The most interesting question of the suit lies in the interpretation to be given to the fact in itself, and, however it may be characterized, it will be easy to decide whether the insurer is bound toward DELMAS & LAFONT, or whether the loss encountered is outside of the risks accepted by the former;

Whereas, The fratricidal war between the States of the Union is a notorious fact, and one quite anterior to the signing of the policy of insurance of the 10th of January;

And whereas, The Moniteur of the 11th of June, 1861, inserted in its columns a declaration by the Emperor of the French of a highly instructive nature, since, in stamping the struggle with a distinctive character, it marked out the conduct to be observed in respect to the States of the American Union, and qualified the States both of the North and of the South as belligerents, thus implicitly recognizing the right of each party to make war, after having long been faithful to the same principle and having respected the minute relations that governed them;

Whereas, This declaration of the French Government notified the nation how to treat the claims and pretensions, on both sides, of a people who, having ceased to agree at home, sought, in the employment of force, a solution which victory and time may sanction;

Whereas, The commercial world, on its part, intensely preoccupied with the gravity of the struggle, did not mistake its consequences, and, in its prudence, saw danger where it descried war;

Whereas, It was in the midst of these well-known circumstances that DELMAS & LAFONT did not see fit to guarantee their interests by an insurance against the risks that might be created at sea by the sudden appearance of an American vessel, carrying a flag different from the one that covered their merchandise; and,

Whereas, This case having occurred, it remains to be seen whether the Alabama is to be considered as being merely a pirate, and whether, consequently, the depredations committed by her come under the category of risks insured by the Indemnity Company;

Whereas, Piracy is distinguished by the manner in which it proceeds;

Whereas, The pirate is a skimmer of the seas, a corsair by profession, attacking indiscriminately all it comes across;

Whereas, It must be admitted that such is not the conduct of the Captain of the Alabama, since he destroyed the property of those only against whom he is at war, and respects neutrals;

Whereas, The abolishment of privateering and letters-of-marque was proclaimed in the Declaration of Paris of the 30th of March, 1861, and, in that point of view especially, the existence of privateers can neither be admitted nor recognized any longer; but,

Whereas, The States of the Union remained aloof from that Convention and had made up their minds to retain the fullness of all their rights by disposing of all the customary means to fight and destroy their enemy;

Whereas, By a peculiar chance, the first use of this power, occurring since the conclusion of the Treaty of Paris, is made by them among and against each other, thus exhibiting an example of human weakness and of the blindness of the passions; and

Whereas, To nations who have thus willed it, should be left the care of making war as they understand it, even by employing privateers;

Whereas, If the Indemnity Company does not prove that the Alabama was provided with letters-of-marque it must be deemed that such proof is hard to make, since the Minister of Foreign Affairs, when consulted by the party insured, has not, even on his side, replied in that respect in a satisfactory manner; but

Whereas, It remains a fact in the case that the commander of the Alabama armed for war, carried the flag of the Southern Confederacy;

Whereas, She is not disavowed by the Confederacy;

Whereas, All her acts are directed against the enemies of the Confederates, making war solely for the benefit of the flag she carries;

Whereas, It is her conduct that marks her out in the absence of a commission, which she was not bound to exhibit to her enemies, which may exist or not exist—a matter of more or less indifference, in view of the use she makes of her force against the enemies of the Confederacy;

Whereas, The distinction thus established enables us to recognize that the Alabama cannot be considered as a pirate in the meaning of Article 1 of the Policy of Insurance;

Whereas, In so far as the reproach of barratry laid to Capt. HALLOCK is concerned, the fact of his having communicated at sea with an American vessel belonging to the Northern States cannot be considered as constituting a grave fault sufficient to stamp him with the mark of barratry, and such communications at sea may sometimes prove useful; and,

Whereas, Moreover, nothing proves that to this cause solely is to be attributed the meeting with the Alabama;

Whereas, On his departure from Bordeaux, it was not required of Capt. HALLOCK to forewarn the shippers against a state of things already notorious and as well known to them as to him, it being rather the place of DELMAS and LAFONT to foresee the eventualities of every description which the war in the United States placed in their way;

Whereas, The exhibition of papers was forced, and Capt. HALLOCK, in making a declaration contrary to the truth, might have hoped that he would be believed on his word, and whereas the falsehood in such a case compromised only his individual self, but, in no wise, changed the facts and the material situation of things;

Therefore, the tribunal declares DELMAS and LAFONT non-suited, releases the Indemnity Company from the charges filed against it, and finds the costs against the plaintiffs.

THE POLISH QUESTION.

The French Ambassador at St. Petersburgh was to quit Russia for Paris on the 28th ultimo, on leave of absence.

Rumors were also current that the Russian Ambassador to France was about to proceed to St. Petersburgh on leave of absence.

CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN.

Some Words Concerning Her and Her Appearance in Boston Saturday Evening, Sept. 26.

QUINCY, Mass., Tuesday, Sept. 29, 1863.

Several years ago, I was a stranger in New-York, recently arrived from England. I was unknown, and, like every unknown man in his early experience of a great city, I was lonely, languid and despondent. I was apathetic, with an apathy which amounted to mental illness. I could not think, write or read. It would seem natural that a person in such a state of mind would seek relief in public amusements—as in the theatre, in the concert-room, or in any reputable place where "a mind diseased" may, at least for the hour, lose the sense of its infirmity. The idea is natural, and yet it is a mistake. The sick, in certain kinds of illness, do not always know their need of medicine, or, at least, they do not always know the sort of medicine which is best for their disease; indeed, they often shrink most from the remedy that would be most effectual—as, the apoplectic from abstemiousness, the intemperate from cold water, the indolent from exercise or work, the wasteful from thrift, the prodigal and extravagant from economy, the dreamy and the sentimental from the practical duties and the real interests of life. My mental state was a morbid one; and so, instead of seeking a cure, I rather nourished the morbidness. To amusements I had an actual antipathy. My nearest approach to diversion was to wander about Broadway, and the adjacent streets. With this exception I went but little abroad, but almost imprisoned myself in my cat-cage of a room, avoiding even the society of my hosts or my fellow-boarders. In one of my evening rambles I was passing the Park Theatre, and I was moved to go in. There was little I confess in outward appearances that was cheering or exciting. The scenery was poor, tawdry and inappropriate; the lights were dim, and the audience was not large. The play was "Othello," and, on the whole, the performance was spiritless. In the part of Emelia, I saw a large-sized, dark-complexioned young woman, not of handsome, but of impressive presence. The effect of her denunciation of the Moor after the murder of Desdemona was electric. The few lines of high passion which the part contains, by the power with which the actress delivered them, made the part, insignificant though it is, the leading one on that occasion. By looking at the bill I found that the name of this actress was CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN. She was rapturously applauded, and this was the only hearty applause that was given during the evening. I knew that there was no ordinary artist in this then comparatively unknown young woman. I saw her next in Lady Macbeth, and my conviction was only the more confirmed by this terrible test of any genius. I went back to my cat-cage of room filled with admiration, resolved to see this powerful actress as often as I should have opportunity. I then foresaw her fame, and time has justified my prophecy. I saw her frequently afterward—when she played with Mr. MACREADY—and even with this great and cultivated artist she held her own. She had not had his experience, but she had genius, and as he was a cultivated man, she was a cultivated woman. There were times when she more than rivaled him; when, in truth, she made him play second. I observed this in New-York, and a critic in the Times bore witness to it in London. I have seen her throw such energy, physical and mental, into her performance, as to weaken for the time the impression of MACREADY's magnificent acting. She profited, no doubt, by his admirable ability and veteran experience; but she nevertheless always preserved her own independence and thorough individuality. Sometimes the intensity with which her acting affected me, also vexed me. The "Stranger," and "Fazio," are both plays that I would never see for their own sakes—but I have been so moved by Miss CUSHMAN's Mrs. Haller and Bianca, that I have gone home ill from the effect of the acting. I was intellectually ashamed of myself to be so prostrated by compositions of such spasmodic melodrama, and such maudlin sentimentalism. But the artist created the tragedy in her own person, and that which was frigid in the book became pathetic in the woman. The same was the case with Mrs. SIDDONS; some of her most overpowering acting was in very inferior plays.

I saw CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN act in Boston, for her benefit, a short time before her first departure for Europe. The audience was not generously large; indeed, I might say, it was ungenerously small, and not a few in it were foreigners. This was not as it should have been. MACREADY had a succession of crowded audiences, and in private life he was welcomed, feasted and fêted. Miss CUSHMAN supported him brilliantly, loyally, sympathetically, and thus contributed much to his eminent success. He acted to the last available hour, and the morning of the date which was appointed for Miss CUSHMAN's benefit he sailed for England. There may have been inevitable reasons for this conduct, which may have justified it to Miss CUSHMAN herself, but upon her friends it left a very unpleasant impression. Miss CUSHMAN belonged to Boston by birth, kindred, education; and Boston should have bidden her godspeed in a "bumper." But we have changed all that, and Boston has often made ample amends for this casual neglect of her native artist. I could not help feeling the contrast the other evening between "NOW and THEN."

The audience was superb, and must have presented from the stage a magnificent spectacle. For what can more excite the mind with a feeling of living sublimity than a spacious and splendid theatre crowded with faces, intelligent, serious, earnest—animated by common sympathy in a generous object, and made to glow by the most exalted inspirations which were ever given to human genius. The object was to contribute to the funds of the Sanitary Commission, and that is to contribute comforts and consolations to our wounded, sick, and dying soldiers—to minister to them as best we can in their "sad varieties of pain." It was appropriate that the play should be a tragedy; for many of those gazing faces were but the "vizers" to afflicted hearts, and all were sober with thoughts which the terribly real tragedy of the nation could not but suggest.

The play was "Macbeth." It was throughout well acted. The performers, in their several places and degrees, seemed to understand their work, and they did it effectively. Each seemed to have studied his or her own part accurately, in the letter and spirit of the text, and to have studied that part also in relation to the whole drama. Thus, each gave aid to that unity of effect without which a drama is but a series of unconnected scenes. The music was exquisite. Both the vocal and the orchestral portions of it were truly rendered, in the spirit of that delicious mixture of melody and harmony so characteristic of early English composers, and which, however strong or varied, never pains or perplexes hearing, but always fills the ear with sweetness. LOCK will live so long as music is loved, and so long as "Macbeth" is played upon the stage.

Mr. JOSEPH PROCTOR sustained the character of Macbeth, thoughtfully, carefully, impressively, often admirably. He was very successful in the marked passages. I need not specify them—they are known to everybody. They are traditional, and to a certain degree, the actor is obliged to be traditional in them. He cannot help it; the audience requires him to be so. They will not dispense with their usual amount of stage-mannerism and stage-effect. There is a conservativism of the stage as well as of the State, and it is only a very daring radicalism that will venture to disturb the conservativism of either; in both cases, failure is rebellion, success alone justifies. Mr. PROCTOR, without venturing on any bold innovations, gave very clear evidence of scholarly meditation and of independent thought.

All are familiar with CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN'S Lady Macbeth. It made her at once famous in England, and it was felt that since Mrs. SIDDONS had revealed the character with its awful majesty and its solemn power, a more impressive Lady Macbeth than CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN had not appeared. Time has confirmed this judgment. The part as she played it recently, had all the force of her younger days, and all the depth of her maturity. It had smoothness and a sustained finish. There were some drawbacks in her early acting in this character, which have disappeared—such as a certain angularity and ungainliness in movements and gestures, and while she and the audience remained cold in the opening scenes, these faults were painfully observable, though as she kindled and lost herself in the rush of passion, all defects were forgotten in the triumphs of her power. The character, as she recently rendered it, was a complete whole. It gained in the softer elements, and lost nothing in the dark and stormy ones; while it lost nothing in the force of passion, it gained in tenderness and pathos. Miss CUSHMAN gave most affecting expression to those hidden feelings of feminine nature, which no crime or sin can utterly destroy, and which, in any supreme moment, are sure to reveal themselves. The fearful sigh, the agonized "oh! oh! oh!" of grief, madness and despair, as she uttered it, was almost the utterance of a supernatural sadness. An old gentleman once told me that when he had been an apprentice in London he stole away on a certain night to the theatre. He got in late, and just as Mrs. SIDDONS was heaving this awful sigh. Though he had not heard the rest of the tragedy, tears gushed into his eyes, and he shuddered with affright. Had a sensitive youth come into the Boston Theatre when Miss CUSHMAN gave forth this woful exclamation of a breaking heart, the effect on him, I think, would hardly have been less. But, indeed, the whole of this sleep-walking scene was at the same time affecting and appalling—moving at once to terror and to pity. Who that was present, with any sense of art or nature, can forget the exit of Lady Macbeth, with the words, "To bed, to bed, to bed," softening until they sank into a dying whisper—a whisper which vibrated through the stillness of the immense audience.

A passing word on the play. It is admitted to be the most stupendous tragedy in existence. In variety, in compass, in power, in passion, in sublimity, it seems to be almost above the resources of the human imagination. Yet analyze the two leading characters and you find them not only villainous, but mean—mean with the lowest and basest meanness. They are treacherous, ungrateful, stealthy, false, cunning and bloody. The woman is aggrandised by the terribleness of her nature; but the man—Macbeth—is wholly paltry. He is the type of many whom we read of, both in Scripture and history, who, having fierce passions, and doing the worst deeds, are ever ready with reflections and moralizing. Macbeth is fertile in these; he is the Joseph Surface of tragedy. It is another wonder of SHAKESPEARE'S genius that from materials so revolting he could create a work of such transcendent greatness. It may be remarked that out of this play, more than from any single play of SHAKESPEARE'S, have come those numerous and striking sentences and phrases which enter into the common stock of the English language.

It is surprising that the hugeness of this play does not overcome the faculties of any performer, or that in confronting it he can make any impression or gain any attention. And, probably he could not, if every one of his audience could carry the whole drama in his memory and imagination, with any adequate comprehension of its vastness. But this no one does or can do. If he did, then to act to him or to an audience made up of such, might seem as hopeless or as idle as to sing a low song to rise above the chorus of the raging waves; to preach peace amidst the tempest of a battle; to attempt to quiet a maddened mob by a tune on the jewsharp; or to try to outsound the thunder by firing off a pocket-pistol. The truth is, this stupendous drama is not taken into the mind in its magnitude or parts during its representation on the stage. The attention is mainly confined to the two principal characters, and the mind is diverted or relieved by the ceaseless variety of interests and incidents which surround these and are subordinate to them. But, still, there are fearful difficulties in giving any due expression on the stage to the spirit of this gigantic drama. When, therefore, an artist does make impression—deep impression—does gain attention—profound attention, in spite of these formidable obstacles, it is a great triumph, and such was the triumph of CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN in Lady Macbeth. It may, however, be doubted whether any amount of histrionic art or genius will be sufficient to keep SHAKESPEARE always on the stage, or, at least, to have him there very frequently. People look more, of late, for what does not tax their minds overmuch in thinking, but gives them easy amusement. The world is becoming a very hard-working one, and there is a tendency to get rid of exacting mental demands in the spare hours of rest and of leisure. SHAKESPEARE gradually recedes from congregated crowds to solitary and individual readers; more and more he becomes to thoughtful minds the POET, and less and less, the PLAYER. G.

Personal.

—Gen. Truman Seymour returned to the Department of the South by the Arago, having sufficiently recovered from his wound, received at the storming of Fort Wagner. The General was Chief of Artillery at Fort Sumter when it was captured by the rebels, and he hopes to be present when our flag again flies over its ruins.

Lieut.-Col. James F. Hall, Provost-Marshal-General of the Department of the South, also returned to Port Royal by the Arago, after a brief visit home. Col. Hall, during his service at the South, has earned a splendid reputation as a brave soldier and efficient officer, having distinguished himself first at the siege of Fort Pulaski, and afterward at Thorn's Island. His return to his old field of duty will not only give great satisfaction to his comrades in arms, but result also to the advantage of the Department, the good order and morals of which are mainly to be credited to the faithfulness with which he has exercised his magisterial functions.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE EIGHTH-AVENUE ABORTION CASE

Trial of Dr. E. M. Brown.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—BEFORE RECORDER HOFFMAN.

The testimony in this case was resumed yesterday morning, by calling to the stand Mrs. JANE SHAW.

Direct examination by District-Attorney Hall—Have seen the defendant, Dr. Brown, before; in October last he lived three doors from the corner of Fourteenth-street and Eighth-avenue; I took some clothes to the Coroner at the time of the inquest; the clothes came from Dr. Brown's; they were underclothes; I took them from Dr. Brown's three or four days before the inquest; had washed them twice before; was paid by Dr. Brown's housekeeper.

Cross-examined—I got the first lot of clothes from Dr. Brown's three weeks before the inquest; they were soiled with blood; the others were not; the clothes were marked, but can't tell the initials.

Police Officer David Lindsay sworn: Have seen Dr. Brown in a drug-store No. 82 Eighth-avenue, three doors from Fourteenth-street; the Doctor's sign was on the door and in the window; it read "Dr. Brown, Female Physician;" on the evening of the 19th of November last I saw a coach before Dr. Brown's door, with two men on the box; a lady, whom I have since ascertained to be Miss Green, got out of the coach, and, after trying the door of the office, and not being able to get in, she returned to the coach, when a man, whom I since learned is Simms, got out of the coach and paid the driver some money; one of the men on the box then got inside the coach and it drove off; afterward visited Dr. Brown's house with Coroner Ranney and made a search of the premises; found on the third floor a piece of muslin, soiled with what appeared to be blood, (muslin shown to and identified by witness;) it was found among some dirty clothes.

Cross-examined by Judge Stuart—Did not see any woman borne from the doctor's door to the carriage; did not see Dr. Brown at all that evening.

The District-Attorney next offered in evidence the deposition of Dr. Brown, made at the Coroner's inquest.

[Objected to, and objection sustained by the Court, on the ground that at the time Dr. Brown made the deposition he was in custody, and resting under the suspicion of having been instrumental in causing the death of Miss Anderson.]

The prosecution then rested their case.

The first witness called for the defence was Dr. Alanson S. Jones, Police Surgeon, who testified that he heard the testimony of Dr. Tinnell, given on Thursday, and assuming all his statements with regard to the appearance of the body of Miss Anderson to be correct, they do not necessarily show that an abortion was procured; all the appearances mentioned by him occur in premature delivery, whether caused by violence or not; nor was there in his statement of the appearances, conclusive proof that pregnancy had existed.

Dr. Charles A. Budd, Professor of Midwifery in the University Medical College, confirmed the testimony of Dr. Jones, as to the insufficiency of Dr. Finnell's evidence in proving that pregnancy had existed; some of the appearances he considered inconsistent with the idea of pregnancy—as, for instance, the absence of corpus luteum in the ovaria, which was an infallible as well as indispensable sign of pregnancy; neither was there anything in the appearance, as described by Dr. Finnell, indicating that there had been a delivery from violent means as distinguished from a natural delivery.

Dr. Augustus K. Gardiner, Professor of Midwifery in the New-York Medical College, confirmed the testimony of the previous witness.

The defence then rested their case and the Court took a recess of half an hour.

On the reassembling of the Court, Mr. Clinton proceeded to sum up the case for his client. He argued that the prosecution had utterly failed to make out a case against the defendant; they had not proved that he procured an abortion upon the deceased, or that he was any way instrumental in her death; they had not even proved that he ever saw the deceased; in fact, they had proved absolutely nothing against the accused, except the fact that he lived in Eighth-avenue and kept a drug-store. Nor had they shown that an abortion had been produced at all, or that the deceased was ever pregnant; on the contrary, the defence had shown by the highest medical authority that the probabilities were that she never was in a condition of pregnancy. He claimed the acquittal of the accused on the ground that nothing had been proved against him.

District-Attorney HALL summed up the case for the people, and argued that the circumstances developed by the testimony showed the guilt of the prisoner beyond a reasonable doubt.

Recorder HOFFMAN charged the jury upon the law of the case, and said that whatever might be their opinion as to what the law ought to be for the punishment of crimes like that charged against the prisoner, they could only take the law as it was; and, as the law now stands in this State, a conviction could only be had in this case of manslaughter in the fourth degree, or of misdemeanor.

The Jury retired at 7½ P. M., and after an absence of five minutes returned with a verdict of "Manslauhter in the fourth degree."

Court of Oyer and Terminer.

Before Justice Barnard.

CHARGE TO THE GRAND JURY—MURDER TRIAL.

The Court opened about 11 o'clock, and proceeded at once to business. The following named gentlemen were impanneled as Grand Jurors:

CHARLES J. LIVINGSTON, Foreman; Jehial S. Alling, Elliakim S. Bollies, Enoch Chamberlain, Noah A. Childs, Jonathan A. Frazer, Calvin S. Goddard, Chas. Gould, James S. Gregory, Marcus Hunter, William A. Kettlelas, Abram B. Ludlum, George Quimby, Albert H. Tilton, Cornelius Vanburn, George Warren, Richard D. Wood. The usual oath having been administered to the Foreman and the several jurors, Justice BARNARD proceeded to deliver his charge to them as follows. After alluding briefly to the various points upon which he was required by statute to charge, he said:

Within the last few years evil-disposed men of all political parties, for purposes of their own advancement or popularity, have called in question the constitutionality of every law which in any way affected them or their interests, at first in a peaceful way, then by counseling resistance by force. The result of such advice is to be seen in the scenes of violence lately committed in this City, of which you are residents, and which, from their peculiar character, bespeak our serious attention. Suddenly the peaceable and orderly citizens were rudely aroused from their wonted feeling of security from violence. It seemed as if governmental protection was at an end. The fact was apparent for a short time that protection was inadequate to prevent the attacks on life and property. Bands of men and half-grown boys, under the plea of resisting an unconstitutional law, ranged the streets, committing outrages upon a portion of the community, extending even to the infliction of death; burning buildings; causing the ordinary means of conveyance between the different parts of the City to cease, and large manufactories to stop their work; threatening vengeance on those who opposed them; and commanding orderly citizens to obey their behests. The ordinary police organization seemed insufficient to cope with these bands. Dread apprehension—I might say terror—seized the law-abiding citizens, and so affected them that they all, with one common accord, hailed with pleasure and a sense of relief the arrival of State and Federal soldiery, feeling that the City would then be saved from anarchy and order restored. Authority succeeded. Quiet was shortly restored. The citizens and the affairs of the City again moved along as if no interruption had occurred. The experience of those few days of rampant lawlessness is sufficient to impress us all with a keen sense of the danger to arise from the execution of a law being resisted by force, and from the authority of those lawfully intrusted with its enforcement being set at naught. Such resistance and setting at naught leads to and can only lead to anarchy: it subverts all Government and principles of Government. It is absolutely essential that there should be a Government and principles of Government to insure to a community any security whatever, whether of property, liberty or life. If there be no Government then each man, as to property, liberty and life, is at the mercy of each other. Any act, therefore, which tends to subvert a subsisting Government is of a grave character, because it tends to the destruction of the whole community. If a large number of men claiming that a law is unconstitutional can disregard it and resist by violence its enforcement, so can a smaller number on the same ground resist another law, and so can each individual resist a law which does happen to suit him; and thus all government would end. It will thus be perceived that the fact that the acts of violence committed in this City were so committed under the plea of resisting an unconstitutional law, not only affords no excuse, but enhances the criminality of the act. If this be so, in case of resistance to any law claimed to be unconstitutional, is not such resistance the more reprehensible when made to a law such as the one in question? The National Government, which has given protection and prosperity to all the States, had been for some time engaged in suppressing a rebellion set on foot by divers of the States which, unmindful of the benefits theretofore conferred on them by the National Government, with a view of breaking up that Union which has heretofore had so bright and prosperous a career, which in its entirety has brought each component State to the highest point of affluence and prosperity, and the dismemberment of which will inevitably lead to results painful to contemplate. To sustain this Union the Federal Government required both men and means. Measures to procure both were adopted. Laws for that purpose were passed by a majority of the members elected by the States not in rebellion to represent them in Congress, and were approved by the President, duly elected by all the States. It was resistance by violence to one of these laws that caused the scenes of violence I have before referred to. Language is not strong enough to condemn such resistance in fitting terms, since the effect of it is not only to give countenance to those seeking to destroy the Union by leading them to suppose the requisite aid will be refused to the General Government, but also to throw any legal obstructions in the way of carrying out the measures devised for the maintenance of that Government—that Union which every citizen, every American should strive to sustain to the utmost of his power. There will undoubtedly be presented before you for your action complaints against persons for participating in the late violent acts. In all such cases you will bear in mind that the allegation that the act in question was committed in resisting an alleged unconstitutional law affords no palliation or excuse. In conclusion, I desire to call your attention and of the public to the great obstacle to the proper administration of criminal justice, which is the want of proper petit jurors. Of the large number of those drawn, a majority either pay the small fine imposed by law, or get a certificate of a physician, leaving only those who have no interest in the faithful execution of the laws, or who remain for a purpose not necessary to mention. The first to bitterly complain of the want of protection and enforcement of law are those who have thus taken advantage of wealth or favoritism of a medical man, and who have thus left in the hands of unworthy men those duties which they themselves should have performed—are the first to bitterly complain of the want of protection and the non-enforcement of the laws.

The Grand Jury having retired, District-Attorney GARVIN announced that the prosecution were ready to proceed with the trial of JOHN MCALISTER, for the murder of JOHN WILLIAMS, a colored man, who, on the 14th of July last, was murdered by the rioter while walking the streets of the City.

ALEXANDER H. REARY, Esq., appeared as counsel for the prisoner.

Considerable time was consumed in getting a Jury—the panel was exhausted, all but seven, before twelve men could be found who were satisfactory to all parties.

District-Attorney GARVIN then proceeded to open the case on the part of the prosecution, in which he stated that it was not known to the people generally the difficulty which a prosecuting officer labored under in finding witnesses to convict those who are known to have been active participants in the riots. That in many of the low neighborhoods where the rioters lived, it was as much as a man's life was worth to go among them even to serve a subpœna, and, to his knowledge, many had come to the office of the District-Attorney and stated that if they testified against those whom they knew to be engaged in the riots, they would probably be killed or pillaged of their goods; that under such circumstances it was almost impossible to find witnesses to convict the actual guilty parties.

In conclusion he said that the prisoner at the bar was one among those others who were known to be engaged in the murder of the negro WILLIAMS, and if he succeeded in proving him such, he should expect at the hands of the jury a conviction.

At the conclusion of the opening remarks, the District-Attorney, informing the Court that he expected the case would occupy one whole day, the Court thereupon adjourned over to this morning at 11 o'clock, Judge BARNARD announcing that if necessary he would hold a night session.

The jurors were allowed to separate.

Meeting of the Committee of the National Canal Convention.

The Executive Committee appointed by the National Convention, which met in June last at Chicago, held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the St. Nicholas Hotel. Hon. ISAAC N. ARNOLD, M. C., of Illinois, was the Chairman, and RICHARD B. HILL, of Iowa, acted as Secretary. The Committee consists of the following gentlemen:

Hon. I. N. Arnold, M. C., Chicago, Ill.; A. A. Low, New-York City; R. B. Hill, Davenport, Iowa; H. L. Dawes, North Adam, Mass.; J. Homer, St. Louis, Mo.; P. Chamberlin, Cleveland, Ohio; Thos. M. Edwards, Keene, N. H.

At the meeting yesterday there were representatives of the following States: Maine, New-Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New-York, New-Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and Kansas. Among those present were Hon. HENRY L. DAWES, of Massachusetts, and JUSTIN S. MORRILL, of Vermont.

The object of the meeting was the presentation of a memorial by the Sub-Committee, which was unanimously adopted, and a Committee of five was appointed to present the same to the President, and ask him to communicate the same to Congress, and urge that body to adopt such measures as shall most speedily insure the completion of the National Ship Canal from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Ocean.

Annexed is a copy of the principal resolutions adopted by the Convention in June last, at Chicago, and upon which the memorial was based:

Resolved, That we regard the enlargement of Canals between the Mississippi River and the Atlantic, with Canals duly connecting the Lakes, as of great national, military and commercial importance; we believe such enlargement, with dimensions sufficient to pass gunboats, from the Mississippi to Lake Michigan, and from the Atlantic to and from the Great Lakes, will furnish the cheapest and most efficient means of protecting the Northern frontier, and at the same time will promote the rapid development and permanent union of our whole country.

Resolved, That these works are demanded alike by military prudence, political wisdom, and the necessities of commerce; such works will be not only national, but continental, and their early accomplishment is required by every principle of sound political economy.

Resolved, That such national highway between the Mississippi and the lakes, as far as practicable, should be free, without tolls or restrictions; and we should deprecate the placing this great national thoroughfare in the hands of any private corporation or State. The work should be accomplished by national credit, and as soon as the cost is reimbursed to the National Treasury, should be as free as the Lakes to the commerce of the world.

Proceedings in the Surrogate's Court

Before Hon. G. J. Tucker, Surrogate.

In the Surrogate's Court, before Surrogate TUCKER, yesterday, the will of the late Abraham R. Lawrence, bequeathing an estate of $300,000, came on for trial, but was postponed in consequence of the precedence given to the Hopper will, which is still before the Court. The Surrogate delivered his decision on the application of Mrs. Ellen M. Walton for her share of the estate of the late John Walton, who was murdered in this City in 1860, as will be remembered by our readers. Walton's Executors denied the validity of Mrs. Walton's marriage with the deceased, and insisted that she had at the time two other living husbands. The Surrogate, however, holds that she was, at that time, in contemplation of law, a single woman, and is entitled to her share as Walton's widow. The Surrogate also admitted to probate the will of Frederick Miles.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 7—P. M.

The receipts at the Treasury Office in this City to-day on account of the Popular Loan were $1,438,900. The receipts yesterday were $1,077,000, in place of $177,000, as misprinted this morning. There was a further advance in the demand for the old coupon 6 ₩ cents of 1881, and a strong demand generally for all Government stocks and Treasury paper.

The price of Gold was 1 ₩ cent. less firm through the sales of the day than on Tuesday, though after Bank hours the bidding on the Street returned to 146⅞@147 ₩ cent. Exchange closed for the mail per China at 160½@161 ₩ cent. The amount of Gold taken out by the steamer is $270,000.

The market for Money is fairly active at 6@7 ₩ cent. to the Stock Brokers, who are employing more loans at call since the strong upward turn on the Stock Exchange.

The firmness in price and buoyancy in demand on the Railway Share Market noticed yesterday afternoon continued through the dealings on the Stock Exchange to-day, and there was a further advance on most descriptions. Erie was again a favorite with the speculators, and so were Cleveland and Pittsburgh and New-York Central. The half-yearly Dividend of 4 ₩ cent. on the shares of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh was announced by telegraph from the Board of Directors now in session at Cleveland. It is understood the Company carry over a surplus of $250,000, or over 6 ₩ cent. on the Capital of $3,950,000, after providing for this Dividend. The price of Michigan Southern, after various fluctuations, left off at an advance of 1@1½ ₩ cent. on the last quotation of Tuesday. The Select Committee of the Stock Exchange on the subject of the late conversion of of $1,500,000 of the indebtedness of the Company into Common Stock reported the legal explanations in writing of the counsel of the Company, Mr. SAMUEL J. TILDEN, and also a note from the Treasurer, Mr. HENRY KEEP, inviting any further information as to the accounts of the Company growing out of this conversion. The report was received by the Board, and the subject dropped.

At 4 o'clock the market for the Railways was not quite so firm; the final quotations being about as follows compared with Tuesday at the same hour:

Among the passengers in the steamship China, for Europe to-day, is Mr. AUGUST BELMONT, Banker, the head of the House of A. BELMONT & Co., who, besides their own business, have charge of the interests of Messrs. ROTHSCHILDS, of London and Paris, in the Atlantic States. We learn that the visit of Mr. BELMONT to the other side will be a brief one, of a business nature, chiefly with a view to the reorganization of his House on the 1st of January next, when his present partners, Mr. CHARLES CHRISTMAS and Mr. E. A. MATHIEUSSEN voluntarily retire from business altogether, after a confidential connection of ten years with Mr. BELMONT and the accumulation of ample private fortunes.

The steamship Persia arrived to-day, with the English mails to Sept. 26. Mr. E. F. SATTERTHWAITE writes of American Stocks:

"The market in London for American Securities has remained very steady during the past week, the business doing being small, from the indisposition of sellers to accept the lower prices offered by shippers. State stocks and railroad bonds are almost without alteration. Atlantic and Great Western bonds have advanced one dollar. Erie and Illinois shares show a decline on the week of one per cent."

The Daily News says:

"Very little business now takes place in the London market in American Securities, the transactions in which have in former times been upon so extensive a scale. The fact is that these Securities have been so largely absorbed by the Americans themselves, that the constant exportation of them has left the London market denuded of stock, and this circumstance renders it now a matter of comparative difficulty to effect dealings. The apparently unabated confidence of the Americans in the future of their country, in spite of the enormous expenditure in progress, is certainly one of the most remarkable features of the day."

The Superintendent of the Bank Department has called for the quarterly returns of the City and country banks of this State as on Saturday, Sept. 26.

The Marietta and Cincinnati Road earned in the fourth week in September, and for the whole month, as follows:

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE.

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 2, 1863.

Ward McLean, Esq., No. 9 Pine-st., New-York:

DEAR SIR: I WILL EXCHANGE THE property described in the accompanying papers, for the reasons therein stated, for good property in or near your City. It cost me nearly $100,000 in cash, and I think the most competent and reliable judges will say I made a good purchase. There is probably no property in the West which offers a surer and speedier prospect of large appreciation. Please use your discretion in the matter, and oblige
Yours truly,
—— ——.

The papers accompanying the above include an appraisal by a well-known house of high character. The undersigned will furnish full particulars on application, and will be happy to receive offers of exchangeable property.
WARD McLEAN,

BROOKLYN PROPERTY FOR SALE.—A fine large two-story house, with wing; size of house, 24 feet by 40; wing, 18 by 24, built in the most substantial manner, with about half an acre of the best of ground attached, pleasantly located on Evergreen-av. and Woodbine-st., accessible by three lines of cars every five minutes, will be sold at a moderate price. Apply to R. B. LOOMIS, No. 31 Pine-st., Security Fire Insurance Office, or to S. S. JONES, No. 33 Fulton-st., Brooklyn; on the premises to A. M. SUYDAM.

FOR SALE—A FURNISHED HOUSE IN BROOKLYN. The house, which is of brick, three stories high, with basement and sub-cellar, has been built four years, and contains gas, range, hot and cold water, bath-room, water-closet, sewer connection, and apparatus for warming basement, first and second stories, and is in complete order. The lot is larger than ordinary city lots, and the premises are eligibly located. Parties desiring to purchase may address OWNER, Box No. 251 Brooklyn Post-office.

A GOOD CHANCE.—FOR SALE IN BROOKLYN, on Carlton-av., between Lafayette and De Kalb avs., some of those magnificently finished brown-stone front houses, with all the latest and richest style of improvements; houses 20x45 feet, and a laundry extension lot 26x100 feet. This is a most desirable and accessible location; Fulton and De Kalb av. cars run quite convenient. Price $8,500, part on bond and mortgage. Apply on the premises soon, as they must be sold.

FOR SALE—THE ELEGANT AND COMMODIOUS residence of Charles A. Meigs, Esq., situated at the corner of New-York-av. and Bergen-st., Bedford, Brooklyn, together with about sixteen lots of ground and stable. The house is about 40 feet square, contains 16 rooms, is elegantly frescoed, and replete with all the modern conveniences, gas, water, bath, &c. The grounds are tastefully arranged with shrubbery and the choicest kinds of fruit, in great variety. Inquire on the premises, or at No. 50 Exchange-place, New-York.

FOR SALE—THE ELEGANT THREE-STORY basement and attic house No. 136 2d-av., east side, between 8th and 9th sts., house 26 feet 10 inches by 57 feet, with extension of 12x20 feet, and is in complete order; has party walls on both sides; size of lot 26.10x125 feet. Two-thirds of the purchase-money can remain on bond and mortgage, for a term of years, at 6 per cent. per annum, or will be leased to a private family for a term of years. Apply to EDWARD AUSTEN, No. 287 Pearl-st.

FOR SALE—NEAR UNION-SQUARE, THE very desirable property on the northwest corner of Irving-place and 16th-st., 53x100, with improvements. Well located for a first-class small hotel, being in the immediate vicinity of the Academy of Music, theatres, railroad and omnibus lines. For terms, &c., apply to
RIDLEY WATTS, Executor,
No. 704 Broadway.

FOR SALE—THE STATEN ISLAND OIL AND Candle property, situated on Princess Bay; about two acres of land, with large and spacious buildings thereon; also, wharf 50 feet wide. These premises are well adapted for steel works, iron foundry, India rubber or petroleum oil factory; or, if required, would be very desirable for hospital purposes. For particulars, inquire of CHARLES FOX, Nos. 70 and 72 Bowery.

TWO FIRST-CLASS BROWN-STONE houses on Madison-av. for sale; immediate possession; also, on 5th-av., 16th, 27th, 30th, 31st, 35th, 36th, 37th, 38th, 41st, 46th and 47th sts., between 4th and 6th avs.; (some with coach-house and extra lot;) others variously located; $5,000 to $80,000.
W. P. SEYMOUR, No. 156 Broadway.

TO BE SOLD CHEAP—WITH IMMEDIATE POSSESSION—A handsome, three-story, high basement house, on 7th-av., near 43d-st., particularly well built and finished, and in excellent order; will take 20 per cent. less than the current market value, if called for immediately. Apply, after 12 o'clock, to C. G. PRATT, No. 32 Pine-st., Room No. 9.

FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—THE PLOT OF ground on Newtown Creek recently occupied by the undersigned for an oil refinery. There is a fine chimney and boiler, in perfect order, and bricks enough to rebuild a factory; a good water front and dock, and easy of access from the City, by ferry and railroad, in thirty minutes.

COUNTRY RESIDENCES.

FOR SALE,
A RESIDENCE IN THE VILLAGE OF FAIRFIELD, CONN.

This residence is one of the most beautiful, and in all respects most desirable, in that region of the State; its location central, on the main street, and one-third of a mile from the New-York and New-Haven Railroad depot at that place.

The house commands a full view of Long Island Sound, less than a quarter of a mile distant, where there is the most extended and safest bathing beach between New-York and Newport.

The house is of the Italian style of architecture, was erected by days' work, is of the best materials (wood, filled in with brick) and workmanship; possesses all modern conveniences, including bath-room and closets, with full supply of both rain and well water. There are ten rooms and a large and desirable kitchen.

The grounds comprise three acres, are laid out with unsurpassed taste, and heavily shaded with a beautiful variety of evergreen, elm, and other trees; the walks are planted with a great variety of flowering shrubbery.

The garden abounds in strawberries, raspberries, the Lawton blackberries, and the place is well stocked with the usual variety of choice fruit. A photograph of the house, and a map of the place, can be examined at the office of the undersigned, who will furnish permits to inspect the property.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

A Knoxville letter of Sept. 28, to the Cincinnati Commercial, says there were then no symptoms of a movement of troops from thence to Chattanooga. The news of Rosecrans' defeat was learned the evening previous. The loyal East Tennesseeans, to the number of about fifteen thousand, have been organized and armed for home defence. They are also volunteering in our army very rapidly.

The object of the raid now being made in Tennessee, by the rebel cavalry force under Wheeler, reported 4,000 strong, is to destroy Rosecrans' communications, capture and destroy his supply trains, and throw all possible obstacles in the way of reinforcements. The enemy seemed to have effected a crossing of the Tennessee River, between Chattanooga and Bridgeport, on Friday last, and, among its first exploits, captured a train of 200 wagons, and an ammunition train of 12 wagons. They then proceeded due north to McMinnville, which was defended by the Fourth Tennessee infantry, but without artillery or fortifications. McMinnville was reached on Saturday—its defenders were attacked and captured, and the town held by Wheeler. From McMinnville the rebels went nearly due west, burning Stone River Bridge on the way, and appearing before Murfreesboro on Monday, but declined to make an attack. Our cavalry is on their track, and, if the report is to be relied upon, the rebels are rapidly retreating.

An expedition of land and naval forces started from Fortress Monroe on Sunday afternoon. Its destination is unknown. Important results are expected from the success of the expedition.

Elizabeth City, North Carolina, was visited a few days since by one of our gunboats and shelled, considerable damage being done.

The Washington Republican makes the curious statement that the Government has positive information that the rebels contemplated throwing "Greek Fire" into the cities of Philadelphia and New-York, providing the rebel iron-clad Atlanta had escaped from the port of Savannah. It will be remembered that she did not escape, but was captured, and arrived at Philadelphia on Sunday last a prize. An official report at the Navy Department of the ammunition found on board of the Atlanta shows that among the various classes of projectiles for the guns, were a large number of shells marked "Robbins' fluid shells" for seven-inch rifle guns. Now, it so happens that the Robbins' fluid shell is the very same "Greek fire" employed by Gen. Gillmore against Charleston, against which the rebels have made such a great hue and cry.

FROM EUROPE.

Three days' later advices from Europe reached us yesterday by the arrival of the steamship Persia from Liverpool on the 26th and Queenstown on the 27th ultimo. The most important item of news relates to the alarming depredations of the rebel steamers Alabama and Georgia and the sailing pirate Conrad in the vicinity of the Cape of Good Hope. The first-named vessel had captured the American ships Sea Bride and Nela, and the second had taken the ship Prince of Wales in the vicinity of the Cape. The rebels were graciously received and fêted by the British colonists, and the American Consul having protested against the capture of the Sea Bride, as achieved within British waters, was snubbed by the local Governor. The aggregate number of vessels captured or destroyed by the Alabama is stated to be fifty-six and by the Georgia fifteen. The Vanderbilt, of whose safety great fear has been entertained, is reported to have been at St. Helena on the 20th of August, leaving on that date in pursuit of the pirates. In our French exchanges we find the official report of the decision of the Bordeaux Tribunal of Commerce declaring the Alabama a belligerent vessel proper, and quashing the suit of the French merchants who had endeavored to obtain compensation for their property destroyed in the Olive Jane by the rebel vessel. Viewing the Polish question in its present aspect, the London Times is of opinion that further negotiations between Russia and the three Western Powers are virtually concluded, and if there is to be an appeal from the existing state of the controversy, it must be an appeal to the arbitrament of brute force. In the meantime and for six months to come Poland is handed over without a possibility of relief to the Power against which she is so vainly but bravely struggling. The withdrawal of Mr. Mason from England was still discussed by all the journals, and various reasons for the step are assigned. The London Globe, the official organ, says that the question of courtesy has not at all entered in the treatment of Mr. Mason, but simply policy. There had been little change in the Cotton, Provision and Breadstuffs markets. Consols had declined ⅛ ℔ cent., closing at 93½@⅝.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger states that Government has been advised of a startling proceeding now said to be in course of execution; but there are few willing to credit the same. The matter, in a few words, is, that a leading ship-builder at New York is now (unknowingly, of course,) constructing a couple of powerful vessels-of-war, iron clad, which are really intended for the French in the prosecution of their designs upon this continent. The vessels are represented as being ordered by a different Power than France, and, if in reality for that Power, there is nothing against their construction in an American yard; but it is more than whispered that these vessels are ultimately intended for Louis Napoleon, and proof of it would seem to appear in the not unfrequent suggestions that are made to the builders by French officers purporting to act for the Italian Government.

Gen. Steele's army is now in quiet occupation of the heart of Arkansas, with headquarters at Little Rock. Gen. Davidson has returned from pursuit of the flying rebels, having followed them a distance of 40 or 50 miles, and found their columns dispersing as they went along. The railway from Little Rock to Memphis is in operation from the former place to Duvall's Bluff, on White River, and probably before two weeks the iron horse will extend his trips to the Mississippi opposite Memphis.

Edward F. Carter, one of the publishers of the Baltimore Daily Gazette, has been released from custody by Gen. Tyler, and will resume the publication of the paper by Gen. Tyler's permission. The other proprietors and editors—Messrs. Carpenter and Neilson—having left the city, are ordered not to return until the close of the war. It is understood that Mr. Carter proved to the satisfaction of Gen. Tyler that the disloyal course of the paper was not in accordance with his wishes, and that he had frequently expressed his dissatisfaction at the persistent defiance of the authority of the Government pursued by his associates.

Admiral Dahlgren writes in private letters that his health is very much better, and he will be all right in a few days. "The work," he says, "has never taken the steel out of me." He disposes of one of the assertions of the rebel Press as follows: "I see by the papers that the rebels not only declined my request to give up Sumter, but called the demand puerile and unbecoming, which is a lie outright. No such language was used. It is a poor effort of some of the chivalry to brag up their oozing spirits."

Surgeon J. R. Weist, of the army, has written a letter to the Cincinnati Commercial, detailing a conversation respecting Vallandigham between himself and the rebel Col. Webb, of the Thirty-first Alabama regiment, on the occasion of the capture of the latter after he had been mortally wounded—Col. Webb having received Vallandigham on the threshold of Dixie when he was exiled. Among other assertions which the rebel officer relates as having been made by the Copperhead candidate for Gubernatorial honors is this: That the South did not pursue the right policy; that, instead of allowing the North to invade Kentucky and Tennessee, and making the battle-fields in said States, they should transfer the battle-fields to Ohio and Indiana, and that if they did so, a strong party would declare in their favor and the Administration would be compelled to recognize the independence of the South.

Havana dates to the 3d inst., have reached us by the arrival yesterday of the steamship Eagle. Our correspondence does not bring us anything new with regard to Mexican affairs. Respecting the Santo Domingo rebellion, there is very little published at Havana that may be depended on, but there is not much doubt of the Spaniards thus far having got the worst in every encounter with the insurgents. The Spanish forces have been ordered to concentrate at Santo Domingo city, the capital of the island, which was to be made the future base of operations, as Puerto Plata had proved inadequate for that purpose. The indications were that the Spaniards intended to enter upon a more vigorous and united campaign.

The trial of Dr. E. M. Brown, for procuring an abortion upon Clementine Anderson, was concluded in the Court of General Sessions yesterday, by a verdict of "manslaughter in the fourth degree."

The Court of Oyer and Terminer met yesterday, and a Grand Jury being impanneled, Justice Barnard delivered his charge. A Jury was impanneled in the case of John McAlister, charged with the murder of the colored man named Williams during the riot. The examination of witnesses will commence this morning.

The price of Gold fell off 1 ℔ cent. yesterday forenoon, but ultimately closed about as on Tuesday, 146⅞@147 ℔ cent. Government Stocks continued in active demand, and the deposits in the Treasury on account of the Popular Loan were $1,438,000. The Railway Shares active and firm.

Flour and Wheat were less active at reduced prices yesterday. Corn was in lively request at a further advance. Rye and Barley were actively sought after, as were also Cotton, Whisky, Tallow and Tobacco. Wool, Hay, Leather, Fish and Sugars were in good demand. The freight engagements were fair. There were 614 vessels of all classes in port.

How New-York Has Been Prepared for the Election.

With the help of Gov. Seymour, the Union men of this State ought to achieve an unequaled victory. We say with the help of Gov. Seymour. In our judgment, he has made himself worth fifty thousand men to the loyal cause. There never was a more signal "blessing in disguise" than his election last Fall. If we don't turn it to equally signal account, it will be a disgraceful abuse of our peculiar privilege.

How stands it? The fight in Ohio, in Pennsylvania, in Massachusetts, and the other States, vigorously as it is kept up, is, after all, to no small extent, a mere beating of the air. It can't be otherwise, for the reason that Copperheadism has never had responsible power in those States. It has been a mere thing of words—spiteful, false, and treacherous enough, to be sure, but still a thing of words—vox et preterea nihil. The overt act is not there. All the world knows the difference between talking and doing. It is perfectly natural to think that fierce speech don't mean much. You will hardly raise your eyes on hearing murderous threats over the way; yet get but a glance of a gleaming knife and a plunging blow, and at once you are on the rush.

We here in New-York have not simply heard the hiss of Copperheadism. We have seen it strike. By an odd combination of circumstances, Horatio Seymour, an excellent specimen of the Northern malignant, was made our Governor last year by a scant majority. It was a substantial power, put for the first time during the war into the hands of an opponent of the National Executive. He could not but feel a good deal of restraint in the use of it. The meagreness of the majority that conferred it would naturally deter him from greatly abusing it. The fact that he was about the only one of his species among the State Governors, and thus was unable to secure official coöperation elsewhere, was also a most inconvenient check. His opposition had nothing of the scope it might have had under other circumstances. Yet it has gone quite far enough to carry a fearful practical warning to every loyal man in the State. It has developed itself in doings which have filled the State both with shame and with dismay.

Gov. Seymour's minor offences of commission and omission it is needless to mention. Sufficient in themselves to make up a most scandalous contrast to the official career of the loyal Governors,—such functionaries as Curtin, and Andrew, and Tod, and Morton, and Yates,—they yet pale away and are no longer heeded before the scenes that, under Horatio Seymour, have smitten our eyes in our streets and our legislative halls.

Last January, in the Capitol at Albany, our State Assembly was for days held under revolutionary domination. A horde of ruffians, in the lobbies and the galleries, aided by allies on the floor, systematically undertook to force the representatives of the people into a compliance with their will. It was an act of unheard-of audacity. Not even its possibility had ever before been imagined; and, indeed, under any previous Governor, it would have been absolutely impossible. The mob took possession of that hall because it felt that there was a man in the Executive chamber in political sympathy with it; and the man in the Executive chamber, though appealed to by the assembly for protection, withheld protection because he felt that the mob were in political sympathy with him. The sanctuary of New-York legislation was profaned by the supporters of Gov. Seymour before his very face, without his lifting a finger, or uttering a word against it. There stands the hideous fact.

Last July a Copperhead mob took possession of our streets. For four days it made this City a theatre of indescribable horrors. Robbery, pillage, arson, cold-blooded murder—dashing out the brains of infants, torturing of dying men, defiling and mutilating of corpses—every form of human rascality, of brutal ferocity, of devilish wickedness, went on. The men engaged were admirers and adherents of Gov. Seymour. Their movement was started in resistance to a Government measure, which he and his party had denounced without measure. While Maj.-Gen. Wool was calling for soldiers "to stay this ravage," and Mayor Opdyke for special policemen to enroll themselves "for the restoration of law and order," Gov. Seymour appeared before the miscreants—the smoke yet clinging to their hair, the blood yet dripping from their hands—and parleyed with them as "friends." As such he "implored" them to stop; as such he promised them to "ask the Government to stop the draft;" and as such he afterward tried every artifice to secure that end. That abominable history, from beginning to end, is fresh to every memory.

Now we say that we people of the State of New-York have a prodigious advantage over the people of the other loyal States, in the effort to carry the Fall election. We have had a practical experience of Copperheadism in power that they have been without. Lawlessness, which elsewhere has simply been syllabled in the air, has here taken a palpable shape, "fierce as ten furies." In every sense and sensibility, we have had an experimental proof of what Copperheadism is capable of being in its development and application. Of all men, we are most bound to be earnest in our loyalty. Having known what it is to be without law, we should strike a mighty peculiar blow for law. The spirit of faction which has afflicted New-York is essentially the same as the spirit of the rebellion which seeks to rend the Union. It all alike springs from an impatience of regular constitutional authority: and, in all its tendencies, it is equally vicious and destructive. The people of this State, thanks to Horatio Seymour, have come to a thorough understanding of it; and it will go hard if this practical acquaintance does not evoke at the ballot-box a corresponding show of detestation.

Position of Gen. Rosecrans—Extended Lines and Secondary Bases.

The rebel cavalry raid which is reported to have taken place on Gen. Rosecrans' line of communications at McMinnville, is one of a series of annoyances which may be expected, so long as the two armies face each other without great operations to absorb the attention. The temptation to these expeditions is very great, for the line connecting the Army of the Cumberland with its base—the line over which supplies for man and beast as well as ammunition and reinforcements have to pass—has the prodigious extension of three hundred miles, and is, by consequence, exceedingly exposed to this sort of attack. Along this route the rebels can, of course, always expect pickings—they can cut the railroad line, gobble up wagon trains and attack isolated posts. The rebels are well furnished for making these raids, for they have a large force of cavalry, or rather of mounted infantry—as large, at least, as fifteen thousand men, under command of Wheeler and Forrest, and in fine condition.

The material damage inflicted by these raids, though bad enough, is not as bad as the mental wear and tear imposed on the Commanding General in keeping up so extended and so exposed a line. There is but one way of obviating this known to the resources of the military art, and that is the establishment of powerfully fortified secondary bases. One of these Gen. Rosecrans had carefully prepared at Nashville, which, during the months of military inaction, he rendered another Gibraltar, and accumulated in it six months supplies. This transfers his base from the Ohio river to the Cumberland, and shortens his line by the intervening distance. At Murfreesboro he has another depot, which has been admirably fortified by a series of earthworks on the German system, constructed under the supervision of his Chief-Engineer, Brig.-Gen. St. Clair Morton. At Tullahoma, he fell heir to the elaborate works which the rebels had spent six months in making, and which, with some additions, will form a third fortified depot. Chattanooga itself, will form a fourth, preparatory to a fresh advance.

These facts illustrate one of the new difficulties that hedge and hamper military operations in this country. With the greatly extended lines, the impossibility of making "war support war," and the absolute dependence of the army on its base for all supplies, and on its line of communications with its base, it is necessary, as the army advances to bring down the base to the front of operations. The establishment of such fortified depots does not insure the line against being cut, but it greatly lessens the damage the enemy can inflict by raids. They are garrisoned sufficiently strong to take care of themselves against anything but an attack in force, which, of course, has to be met in another way. The main work before Gen. Rosecrans at present is the placing of Chattanooga in such a condition as to render it the base for a new advance. The facilities of a double line and a double primary base, at Nashville and at Memphis, will enable him to accumulate at Chattanooga sufficient supplies to enter upon a new campaign. It will, undoubtedly, take some time to do this; and if the rebels do not resume the offensive, we may look forward to a lull in military operations—a period which, though popularly looked upon as inaction, is action in the only direction that makes further operations safe and effective. The public should so interpret any cessation in military movements proper. Every day the rebels fail to attack Rosecrans, he is acquiring more and more the means of attacking them with decisive effect.

"American Trade and Credit."

Milwaukee, Monday, Sept. 28, 1863.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In the Times of the 22d inst., I find an editorial headed "American Trade and Credit," in which you imply that during the current year the trade of the country has been prosperous because the exports have been larger and the imports smaller than during 1862. Now, while I believe the trade of the country is in a most prosperous state, taking the ablest political economists as my guides, I cannot see how the increase of exports and the decrease of imports indicate a thriving trade. Since this country became independent the exports have been smaller than the imports by nearly a thousand millions of dollars; yet you will hardly say that our foreign trade has impoverished us by that amount. Had half the ships bound for New-York been wrecked, our imports would have been still less than they are, yet our trade would not certainly have been more prosperous. I do not, however, intend to argue but to inquire, What are your grounds for believing that large exports and small imports indicate a prosperous foreign trade? J. J.

This is not a very favorable time, nor do our columns afford the scope if it were, to discuss the questions in political economy, that our correspondent broaches. We will submit a few remarks, more by way of propositions than of argument, on the points presented.

1. It is true of nations as of individuals that it is better to be out of debt than in debt, supposing the obligations to be of a character that must be paid.

2. The nation or the individual that buys more than he sells must constantly be falling in debt; and vice versa. When he sells more than he buys he must be constantly accumulating capital.

3. Capital makes rich, provided it is actively and profitably employed as it is in the United States, and not hoarded as it is in China.

4. The balance of trade being in favor of the United States, may be a sign of prosperity to this country, whereas it might indicate utter stagnation and lifelessness in China.

5. The fact that the United States has imported one thousand million dollars' worth more than they have exported during their existence as a Government, only proves that the country is in debt for the difference—which debt is represented by Government, State, and railway bonds and shares, or by foreign capital invested in the commercial and mechanical operations of this country. The public and private securities may be returned for sale, and the foreign capital here employed may be withdrawn. In either case, the country would suffer by the subtraction of the thousand millions of dollars that we have had from foreign capitalists—which we owe them for, and which, by being employed in the development of our country, has given us great apparent and great real prosperity.

6. The loss of one-half the ships bound for New-York would lessen imports, but it would at the same time destroy the value of the exports of the country—with the proceeds of which exports the imports had been bought. Therefore the loss of the ships would be an unmixed evil to the country.

7. In so far as it was ever good economy to get foreign capital for the development of American agriculture, mechanics and internal improvements, the excess of imports over exports is fortunate. But in time of war, as last year and this, when foreign capital does not seek fixed investment in American stocks or real estate, and the excess of imports over exports must be paid in gold, it is very desirable to have that excess as small as possible, and if the exports exceed the imports, why so much the better.

A Warning for all Time.—The Boston Advertiser, in referring to our July riots, says that "the City of New-York will never escape the memory of those dreadful days." Never while this generation lasts, certainly. Nor will it ever forget the men who incited those riots, the faction which participated in them, the party which winked at them, or the public officers who tampered with the riots and parleyed with the rioters. It was a warning to all men who love American institutions, who believe in the Republic, who revere law,—a warning to poor men and to rich men, to those who possess property and to those who expect to own it. It was a warning to this City, to our great State, to the whole country. It would seem like the madness which precedes destruction, if, after this fearful and ever-memorable warning, the City of New-York were to indorse the men and the party who were responsible for the outbreak of this riot, and responsible for its continuance through four days. If the men and the party on whose shoulders rest the guilt of the dread week of murder, arson and plunder, are indorsed by our City, and if far greater evils than the July riot overtake us in the future, the voters of New-York will know who are to blame. They will not need to go beyond themselves to find the culprits.

Academy of Music.

The second performance of "Roberto Devereux" last evening was witnessed by an audience that lacked the numbers of the opening night, and was not superior in point of appreciation. The best morceaux were missed; no one saw their point; no one seemed to know that they were the gems of the opera. Nevertheless there was a slightly warmer appreciation of the leading artists, who, we may here state, were in capital voice. Signor Bellini fortunately was not in the caste, so there was no disappointment. His rôle was sustained—and without rehearsal—by Signor Yppolito. The effort was in every respect creditable to that artist.

On Friday next (to-morrow) Verdi's opera of "Rigoletto," will be performed for the rentrée of Miss Kellogg.

County Substitute and Relief Committee and the Military.

This Committee had a busy session yesterday. Fifty-four substitutes were sent out. Five of them were rejected by the medical examiners at the Enrollment Board offices.

The question of the right of the drafted men of the Ninth regiment N. Y. S. N. G., to participate in the benefits of the substitute and relief fund was considered and decided favorably. The Mayor and Comptroller, and Supervisors Tweed and Purdy in the affirmative, and Supervisor Blunt in the negative. The decision was based upon a letter from Maj.-Gen. Sandford, stating that the Ninth was a part of the active militia of the First Division.

The case of Col. Hall's regiment, recently organized, was left for the opinion of Gen. Sandford, and in reply to a letter from the Acting Chairman, Supervisor Blunt, the General said the regiment was not yet a part of the State Militia, so far as he knew anything of it. This disposes of the claims of Col. Hall's men.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

Washington, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

THREE MONSTER WAR SHIPS.

The entire maritime interest of the country will hear with pleasure that when Secretary Welles came to revise the plans for the 3,500 ton warships under proposition in the Navy Department, he determined fully to test the principle of the casemate as compared with the turret, and to that end rejected the plans of those vessels submitted to him, and communicated to the Construction Bureau his idea of three ships, monstrous in size, impregnable in plating, and as fast as steam power can be made to urge iron through water. The question of their size will be allowed to follow wholly the question of the capacity of their engines. They will be five thousand tons at least, and may be six thousand, or seven thousand tons. They are to be big enough to hold the machinery necessary to make the fastest war vessels that have yet been built. The plates for the casements will be from from fifteen to twenty-four feet long, from five and a half to six inches thick, and fully three feet wide. It is Secretary Welles' purpose to put these three National bulwarks in hand and get them out in eighteen months.

J. E. B. STUART'S INTENTIONS.

Another hint for the authorities: Stuart has failed to obtain a commission as Lieutenant-General, because of his numerous defeats. But he is determined to win the coveted honor yet, and we have rebel authority for the statement that he expects to accomplish his purpose by largely increasing his force, and then bring on a general cavalry engagement and overwhelm our corps by mere force of numbers. The strict conscription now being enforced throughout the South offers great facilities for Stuart to carry out his schemes, because those who are conscripted are permitted to select the particular branch of service they will enter, and it is well known a large majority of the men at the South give a preference to the cavalry corps.

ARRIVAL OF REBEL PRISONERS.

A squad of rebel prisoners, recently captured on the Rapidan, arrived here yesterday. One of the prisoners states they have a report to the effect that we are raising 100,000 cavalrymen, and adds, "if this is so, the Confederacy has gone up."

THE WOUNDED AT CHICKAMAUGA.

Six thousand Federal wounded at the battle of Chickamauga have arrived at Nashville, on their way to Louisville. About two thousand wounded still remain in the hospitals in the vicinity of Chattanooga. The Department of the Cumberland is amply supplied with medical aid and comforts for the wounded.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY FIELD.

The appointment of Maunsell B. Field as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury has been made permanent. It is understood that Mr. Harrington will not return to that post. Mr. Field is now ill with fever at his lodgings.

THE MISSOURI-KANSAS TROUBLES.

A crisis would seem to have come in the Kansas-Missouri affair, or to be fully on its way. It is stated in a high quarter that Gov. Gamble has made a demand upon the Government here to maintain the laws and to preserve order in Missouri, bringing himself and his State within the provisions of the Constitution in such case made and provided. It is not easy to see how it will be possible for Mr. Lincoln to avoid acting in the direction in which he is urged, even if he were indisposed to do so.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Wednesday, Oct 7.

THE ORGANIZATION OF CONSCRIPTS.

Brig.-Gen. Briggs takes charge of all the conscripts as they arrive in Alexandria. As fast as they arrive he furnishes them with arms, accoutrements, tents, &c., and dispatches them at once to the front.

REBEL GREEK FIRE.

According to the official reports made to the Navy Department, among the ammunition of the captured ram Atlanta, were shells labeled "Robins' Fluid Shells," but it is not known whether the fluid is similar to that used by Gillmore.

ALEXANDRIA SECESSIONISTS FINED.

Two disloyal citizens of Alexandria who have refused to recognize the reorganized Government of Virginia, by taking out a license for the lawful transaction of their business, were yesterday heavily fined by the County Court; one in the sum of $143 and the other $243. A large number of others will be similarly treated.

FLAGSHIP OF THE POTOMAC FLOTILLA.

The new gunboat Commodore Read left the Navy-yard yesterday, and entered upon active duty as flagship of the Potomac flotilla. Lieut.-Commander Samuel Magan, will transfer his flag to her.

THE PRIZE STEAMER DIAMOND.

The small iron side-wheel steamer Diamond arrived at the Navy-yard to-day. She is laden with liquors and saltpetre principally. She had both the American and British flag flying as she came up the river, and was captured about ten days ago, while attempting to run the blockade of Savannah, by the gunboat Stettin, last from Nassau.

THE MISSOURI TROUBLES.

The subject of the Missouri troubles is still under Executive consideration.

GUERRILLA OPERATIONS IN KENTUCKY.

Louisville, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

Guerrillas at Woodburn, Warren County, have recently committed many depredations, burning a number of houses, robbing citizens, &c.

Reports are current here that a raid into Glasgow, Ky., has been made near daybreak. Eighty-five (85) guerrillas surprised our forces there, amounting to upward of 300, and captured nearly all of them (?) The officer commanding is said to have killed three rebels with a revolver.

Cincinnati, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

Maj. Wileman, of the Eighteenth Kentucky regiment, who was wounded in the battle of Chicamauga, and who lately returned home, was taken from his house, in Pendleton County, Ky., on Monday, by a gang of guerrillas, stripped of his clothing, tied to a tree and shot. Five of the marauders were caught and brought to this city to-day.

Louisville, Friday, Oct. 3, 1863.

Gen. Rosecrans is being heavily reinforced. His eventual overthrow of all opposing hosts is confidently anticipated. No doubt is entertained by Union Kentuckians of the final success of the United States Government everywhere. Their confidence in the ultimate triumph of the United States of America over all enemies, at home and abroad, is and will remain unshaken. They firmly believe that a permanent division of the territory or the people of this country is impossible. PONTIAC.

Trial of Alleged Military Defrauders.

Cincinnati, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

A General Court-martial, Gen. Ammon, has been in session here this week, trying the parties lately arrested on a charge of fraud against the Government. It is understood the case of Capt. H. W. Hartt, Assistant Quartermaster of this post, arrested in July last, will be brought before the Court soon. A Court of Inquiry was called for by Capt. Hartt, and refused. The statement made in the Associated Press dispatch, in July last, that Capt. Hartt was arrested for appropriating Government funds to his own use, is incorrect. No such charge has been made.

The Government Finances.

Philadelphia, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

The subscription agent reports the sale of $1,295,650 five-twenties to-day.

Gen. Graham.—The dinner in honor of Gen. Graham, at Delmonico's last night, was a superb affair, and came off with the greatest éclat. Toasts and sentiments were given, speeches were made, songs sung, and an excellent repast was enjoyed. J. T. Brady, Esq., was in the Chair, and among those present were many distinguished representatives of the bench, the bar, the army, and the business pursuits of New-York. Letters were received from Gens. Dix, Sickles, Meagher, and Mr. Edwin Forrest. Gen. Graham was in good spirits, though still suffering greatly from the effects of his confinement in Richmond.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

SUCCESSFUL CHASE AFTER GUERRILLAS.

Organization of a Corps of Veteran Soldiers.

BUSHWHACKING AND PICKET FIRING.

Deserters and the Leader of a Marauding Gang to be Executed.

Washington, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

A detachment of Col. Baker's Rangers, which left here a week ago, returned last evening. They report that during their absence they had several brushes with Mosby's and White's men, and they succeeded in putting the enemy to flight in every instance. One of these engagements was at Snickers' Gap and another at Smith's farm, near Middleburgh. Our forces in the latter instance knew that the enemy outnumbered them, but they determined that they would test their fighting ability. Dividing into two detachments, they suddenly dashed upon them, and put them to flight in a very short time. On one occasion, Mosby having stopped at a house near Middleburgh to get breakfast, an effort was made to capture him, but unfortunately he escaped. In all our brushes with the enemy we had only one man killed. The loss of the enemy is not known.

Accounts from the Army of the Potomac represent that the Provost-Marshal-General has recently seized the merchandise and persons of sutlers, for infractions of the regulations concerning trade in the lines, and for attempting to bribe the subordinate Provost agents. The latter offence will be summarily punished, and the effects of the offenders confiscated.

Some changes have recently been made in the locations of the corps, but nothing indicating immediate active operations.

Conscripts in large numbers are arriving. Those yesterday include about 900 from New-York and Vermont.

Surgeon George R. Johnson, late Medical Inspector of the Army of the Potomac, has been relieved from duty at his own request, and transferred to the Middle Department.

It is reported that an execution by hanging will take place in the Second corps within a few days. The victim is named Armstrong, originally a private in the Seventy-second Pennsylvania regiment, but subsequently transferred to Rickett's battery, whence he deserted and formed a band of native guerrillas, who for a long time committed depredations on sutlers' trains in the vicinity of Fairfax Court-house, and was supposed to belong to Mosby's command. When captured he had on a rebel Major's uniform, and his wardrobe showed he had several other suits of disguise in reserve. It is said he several times entered our lines, and once or twice went into his old battery.

Organization of a Veteran Corps—Bushwhacking—Picket Firing—Military Executions.

From Our Special Correspondent.

Headquarters Army of the Potomac,
Monday, Oct. 5, 1863.

Military executions, returning deserters, the arrival of conscripts, prisoners of war and contrabands, the occasional shooting of a soldier on picket or the wounding of one by a bushwhacker within our own lines, the burning of a railroad bridge, and last, but not least, the query in everybody's mouth, what is to be done next with the Army of the Potomac?—minor incidents inseparable from the great struggle in which the military power of the Government is now engaged—embraces all there is embodied in camp rumors, I believe, at this time. I had nearly forgotten, however, the most prominent sensation among the soldiers just at present, and that is

THE ORGANIZATION OF A VETERAN CORPS.

This corps, as the readers of the Times are doubtless well aware, is to be composed of the three years' men who, at the end of two years, reënlist for three years—making their whole term of service five years, unless sooner discharged. Aside from the honor and the esprit de corps which this organization will incite in the breast of every true soldier in the Union army, the emoluments that accrue to those who reënlist for this corps are a recognition of past services—something that will exert quite as great an influence in the mind of a soldier while considering what course to pursue, as the mere money value of what is to be received. Next to his honor, every good soldier likes to have his faithful services acknowledged by the authorities representing the people. This stimulates him to continue his arduous duties when home and kindred—a family, perhaps—invite him away to the more peaceful walks of civil life. Moreover, the recognition thus made does away to a great extent, if not entirely, with that feeling which was naturally engendered in the hearts of all those enlisted to bear the name of veterans by the paying of large bounties to induce men to enter the service at a late day, while they were prompted by purely patriotic impulses and without the hope of any pecuniary reward.

It is a gratifying fact to know that a majority—and, it is believed, a very large majority—of the veterans will take upon themselves the new obligation. In the regiments, thus far, where the proposition of the Government has been submitted, more than half of the members thereof have at once signified their willingness to reënlist. Every day's reflection increases the list, for there are many men who, with true Yankee characteristics, like to reflect a little before taking a step so important. An army with such a nucleus, and engaged in so holy a cause as that of preserving the Union, must be invincible. Let traitors in arms and covertly at home tremble.

BUSHWHACKING.

It is a remarkable fact that there are more or less bushwhackers who continue to ply their vocation within our own lines. A soldier was wounded within one mile of headquarters a few days ago. Night before last an artilleryman was captured by three men, held a prisoner for a day, was robbed of everything he had, and at night, while his captors were endeavoring to cross the Rapidan with him, he managed to elude them and return to camp. But effective measures, it is understood, have been adopted to rid the country of this barbarous crew.

PICKET FIRING.

Picket firing along our front has almost entirely ceased. Occasionally, however, a fatal shot is fired, as was the case in the Second corps recently, by which one man was killed.

MILITARY EXECUTIONS.

On Friday last two men were executed in the First corps for the crime of desertion, in presence of the whole command. One of the culprits represented Pennsylvania, and the other New-Jersey. Strange it is that men who have witnessed all the horrors of many battle-fields unmoved, turn faint and sickening away at the sight of a military execution. Is it the disgrace attached to such an act that produces this effect? Other culprits are to pass through the same terrible ordeal.

Deserters from both armies—contrabands and conscripts—come into camp daily. As correspondents are prohibited questioning deserters and others who come from the enemy's lines, the authorities will most probably lose the benefit of what they do know. If the information obtained and made public by correspondents in regard to the movement of a portion of Lee's army had been acted upon, Gen. Rosecrans would have been fully prepared to meet Bragg with all his reinforcements. E. A. PAUL.

Fatal Railroad Accident.

Boston, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

Near West Warren, on the Western Railroad, the locomotive "Pacific" exploded last evening, killing Frederick Williams, engineer, Harvey Sills, conductor, and William Narey, fireman, all residents of Springfield. Mr. Goodrich, roadmaster, and another person were dangerously injured.

The Southern Hotel of St. Louis.

From the St. Louis Republican.

Our readers will find, by consulting an advertisement published to-day in its proper column, that the elegant and commodious new structure known as the Southern Hotel, at St. Louis, is offered for lease. The gentlemen composing the Leasing Committee, and whose names are appended to the advertisement, will furnish, upon application to their address, a full description of the hotel, together with lithographic plates of each story, to those who may desire to negotiate for the lease.

With regard to so important and tempting an offer as is here made to the capital and business enterprise of the country, we may say with perfect truth that they have seldom, if ever, been tendered a more promising investment. In the construction of the edifice the best architectural talent procurable in the United States was consulted or employed. None of the improvements pertaining to modern hotels of the highest reputation and the first class have been overlooked, and new ones have been added where it was possible to devise them. In order to secure all conceivable facilities and conveniences that guests could desire, the Directors and builders have consulted with keepers of the principal hotels elsewhere, whose recommendations have been carefully collated, and the most valuable suggestions of whom have been adopted in the plans. The arrangement of the various rooms, halls, staircases, &c., is believed to be unsurpassed in any building of the kind in the land. In size it has few superiors, there being three hundred and sixty-one rooms for guests, exclusive of public rooms and those for servants' use. The principal front is 270 feet in length, the side elevations over 113 feet each, and a portion extends through the square, so as to face 60 feet on a fourth street. The other three streets which bound it are among the most accessible and popular thoroughfares in St. Louis, and the entire location is an admirable one in all respects. The material used is that which is coming into such general use in the West and known there as "Chicago stone"—a magnesian limestone, of a regular and handsome yellowish tint, and of the best properties, both as regards durability and appearance. The lessee will enjoy an opportunity to make alterations before the plastering is finished. The hotel, when fully completed, will undoubtedly take rank with the finest ever constructed. The tenant, whoever he may be, may reckon upon a patronage without limit, as St. Louis is already one of our greatest points of travel, and its future in that respect, as the heart of the mighty West, is incalculably grand.

NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES.

The NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES is published THIS MORNING, and may be had at the counter of the publication office, in wrappers, ready for mailing. Price FIVE CENTS.

In addition to the latest intelligence by telegraph up to the moment of going to press, there will be found in the current number full details of all military movements in the different departments, from the pens of our special correspondents. Also, all official orders, reports and documents, and the latest and fullest Washington news. European news, with graphic letters from our correspondents in London and Paris, giving the tone of public feeling abroad, is made a special and permanent feature. In addition to Editorials on all the current topics of the day, the WEEKLY TIMES has a page of carefully prepared commercial matter, giving the latest financial news and market reports; items of agriculture and domestic interest, compiled from sources many of which are otherwise inaccessible to the American reader; and marriages and deaths of the week.

The "WEEKLY RECORD," or news summary—being a careful synopsis and digest of the news of the day, both rebellion and general—is alone worth double the subscription price to the paper, as it preserves in a condensed and conveniently classified form all news of interest, and must prove valuable as a record to all time.

The WEEKLY TIMES will be sent to subscribers in any part of the country on the following terms: One copy one year, $2; three copies one year, $5; ten copies one year, $15; twenty copies one year, $25. To any one who will send us a Club of Twenty, the SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES will be sent gratuitously for one year. To any one sending us a Club of Fifty, the DAILY TIMES will be sent gratis for one year.

DEAFNESS, CATARRH
AND DISEASES OF THE EAR AND THROAT.

Dr. LIGHTHILL, author of "A Popular Treatise on Deafness," "Letters on Catarrh," &c., &c., can be consulted on Deafness, Catarrh, Discharges from the Ear, Noises in the Head, and all the various acute and chronic diseases of the Ear and Throat, at his office, No. 34 St. Mark's-place, (8th-st., between 2d and 3d avs.,) from 9 A. M. till 3 P. M.

FROM F. L. CAGWIN, ESQ.,
PRESIDENT CITY BANK, JOLIET, ILL.

Dr. Lighthill:

DEAR SIR: It affords me the greatest satisfaction to be able to inform you that I am still improving, and have the highest hopes that my ear will be entirely well by the time you at first mentioned it would take to effect a cure. I can say that I am truly thankful to the kind Providence which directed me to you. Since the first few days' use of your prescription, my ear has improved, and almost at once. I was relieved from a very depressed state of feeling and an almost intolerable case, to an elastic and hopeful state of mind. What Dr. John Nott replied to me as his experience, has been mine so far. My catarrhal trouble seems very much better also, and, indeed, altogether my health never was so good. I am weighing some five pounds more than is usual for me, (and more than I ever weighed before.)

I can but hope that it may be the good fortune of many, with like troubles, to fall in the way of the benefit of your skill, and knowing how great the fear of imposition is with those, who in time past, may like myself have suffered by it, and feeling a wish, sincerely at this time, to aid and commend you in establishing a high and deserved position amongst us in your profession, I beg, therefore, that you will not hesitate to refer to me, as it may be of use. I also inclose herewith, Professor Nott's reply to my letter of inquiries, which I deem highly creditable to you, and of great importance to others, as it has been to me. I will visit you again soon. In the meantime, believe me,
Yours, very sincerely,
JOLIET, Ill., July 17, 1863. F. L. CAGWIN.

FROM REV. JOHN NOTT, D. D.,
PROFESSOR IN UNION COLLEGE, SCHENECTADY, NEW-YORK.

FONDA, N. Y., April 29, 1863.

F. L. Cagwin, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: I received your letter of April 23 to-day. I have had from infancy one very deaf ear, and always discharging more or less offensive matter. This year both ears became diseased, running very much, very offensive, producing the greatest debility of body and depression of spirits, and my hearing impaired in the highest degree. In such a condition, I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill. He has fully restored me. I hear well; the dizziness and the discharge have been removed, and have not returned. The stopping of the running has given me the highest elasticity and vigor of body, and a flow of spirits, while my fears were that stopping the discharge would prove detrimental or dangerous.

I esteem, or rather have learned to esteem, Dr. Lighthill—for he was a stranger to me until I was his patient—as a gentleman and a man of science, in whom the highest confidence may be placed. Yours, very truly,
JOHN NOTT.

CATARRH CURED.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 2, 1863.

This is to certify that I have been afflicted with Catarrh for many years, which produced the usual disagreeable effects. I consulted Dr. Lighthill about nine or ten months since, and at once placed myself under his care. I am now entirely free from Catarrh, my throat is perfectly healthy, and my health is very much improved.

READ.

HARLEM, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. VON EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

CATARRH CURED.

NEW-YORK, Aug. 23, 1863.

I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I have had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with a soreness and a dropping. Dr. VON EISENBERG has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. VON EISENBERG is as skillful as it is successful; it is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. VON EISENBERG, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly satisfied.
JAMES LITTLE,
No. 245 7th-st., New-York.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 8.

I have been suffering for years past from a severe Catarrh, with a great heaviness over my eyes, with a severe depression, great uneasiness, and pain in my head, great difficulty in breathing, and a continual accumulation in my nostrils, which gave me restless nights for several years. I have consulted several physicians, who pronounced me to be consumptive. What I suffered for so long a time is indescribable. My system was entirely disarranged and greatly debilitated. I not only felt weak, but I had a cloud continually before my eyes, and my ears were so affected that I was threatened with a total loss of hearing. I must say, I think, I was guided by Providence to come to Dr. Von Eisenberg, who not only cured me of my Catarrh by removing an astonishing quantity of disagreeable matter from my head, but he restored me to perfect health, a blessing I have not enjoyed for many years. Now I enjoy a good night's rest, and pursue my business with comfort. I must acknowledge that Dr. Von Eisenberg's mild and scientific treatment for Catarrh deserves the highest commendation, as the principle which directs his system of curing Catarrh is such as to render success certain.
JAMES FURLONG, No. 556 2d-av.

No. 134 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.
JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.
CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

SIGHT RESTORED.

JUNE 25, 1863.

My daughter brought me to Dr. VON EISENBERG almost completely blind in both eyes. I could not bear the pain nor the light. I am completely cured by Dr. VON EISENBERG, and called now to express my gratitude to the Doctor for his skill and unremitting attention, by which I recovered one of the most precious senses to me after being deprived of it for four years. It is only due to Dr. VON EISENBERG to state that I have tried several physicians in vain. I shall be happy to bear personal testimony to Dr. VON EISENBERG's unrivaled success to any lady or gentleman who will call on me.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.
READ.

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

HILTON'S
INSOLUBLE CEMENT.

An adhesive preparation, Insoluble in Water or Oil. It is in a Liquid Form; as easily applied as common paste, and is always ready for use. It is effectual in its applications, and all articles mended with it will be as firmly united as by natural cohesion.

It is perfect in its operation when applied to Wood-work of every description.

Leather in all shapes, even if filled with oil.

Crockery of all kinds.

Jewelry, when a cement is needed, and it is used in many cases instead of solder.

It is invaluable in all the useful arts, where an adhesive substance is needed.

It is an indispensable article for every household, and no housekeeper would be without it after once using it.

Boot makers using machines will find this Cement the only sure thing for cementing the channels.

The public have long wanted an article simple and easy of application, which would not only repair the many accidents that are constantly occurring in the performance of daily duties, but would also be useful in all the various mechanical employments where an adhesive substance is required.

The Proprietors of HILTON'S INSOLUBLE CEMENT therefore simply assert

That it is a useful discovery.

That it is intrinsically valuable; and one of the best aids to economy that the inventive genius of the age has produced.

HILTON'S INSOLUBLE CEMENT is a scientific preparation, and the legitimate result of years of study, assisted by practical experiments. Nothing like it has ever before been offered to the public, and it is now offered with the firm conviction that its merits will give it an enviable reputation wherever it may become known.

"This excellent article, long advertised in our columns, is a perfect contrivance for putting together and keeping fast that which accident or time has severed. Once applied to a broken joint of furniture, a fractured dish or glass, a sole of a shoe, or a bit of carpenter's work, it holds the parts together with an invincible tenacity which permits a new crack anywhere but in that particular spot. It is thoroughly insoluble, as it claims to be."—N. Y. Evening Post, Sept. 2, 1863.

"During our long experience as a newspaper publisher, we have had frequent occasion to speak editorially of various medical and mechanical preparations; but, as our readers will bear witness, we have never recommended the use of any article hastily or unadvisedly. Hilton's Insoluble Cement is a preparation—and a very excellent preparation, too—which we have used as circumstances required, for more than a year past; and we can truly say that it possesses greater merits even than are claimed for it by its enterprising proprietors.

This cement should be found, and soon will be found, in every house, factory, workshop and counting-room in the country. Certainly no article of the kind has ever been introduced to the public which has so suddenly acquired a widespread notoriety as the Insoluble Cement. To enumerate all the purposes for which it can be successfully used, would occupy more space than we could spare in this department of the paper. Read their advertisement, and, after you have read it, straightway go and purchase a liberal supply of the Insoluble Cement. Depend upon it, after having given the preparation a fair trial, you will never consent to be without it."—Providence General Advertiser, Aug. 1, 1863.

SOUTHERN HOTEL,
ST. LOUIS,
FOR LEASE.

This splendid Hotel edifice, now in process of completion, is offered for lease. It is one of the largest, and, perhaps, the best arranged hotel buildings in the country. In the construction of the house the Directors have availed themselves of all improvements adopted in the first-class hotels recently constructed, and in many cases have taken the suggestions of hotel-keepers as to improvements upon other hotels. The building will be completed in the early part of next year, and it is desirable to give the lessee an opportunity to make alterations before the plastering is finished.

Propositions for leasing will be received until the 20th of October next.

Lithographic plates of each story, and a description of the house will be furnished to parties who may desire to negotiate for the lease. Apply to or address

NOTICE.—THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION was adopted by the Board of Directors the 11th of March, 1863:

Resolved—That, as a guarantee of the punctual payment of the interests upon the funded debt of this Company, the first net earnings in each half of the fiscal year, to the extent necessary for the purpose, shall be set off and immediately deposited as follows, viz.: so much as may be necessary to pay the coupons upon the sterling bonds in the London Joint Stock Bank, and such sum as may be necessary to pay the coupons on the dollar bonds in New-York, which deposits shall be held subject to this purpose only, and that public notice of the deposit shall be duly made by publication in the Cities of London and New-York in such manner as the President may direct."

The net earnings for the month of July being more than sufficient for the purpose, funds have been deposited with the London Joint Stock Bank in London and with Messrs. Winslow, Lanier & Co., in New-York, for payment of the coupons due 1st February next.

Messrs. Winslow, Lanier & Co. will pay the coupons on presentation, deducting interest at six per cent. per annum.

VALUABLE COLLECTION OF PAINTINGS,
BY EMINENT DUSSELDORF ARTISTS.

By D. W. IVES & CO., on THURSDAY EVENING, Oct. 8, at 7½ o'clock, at the Derby Galleries, No. 625 Broadway. In calling attention of connoisseurs, amateurs and the art-loving public to this sale, we would simply state that the collection has been made in every case from the artists themselves by a gentleman of cultivated taste, whose opportunities, from a lengthened residence at Dusseldorf, for the acquisition of paintings of the highest class, are unsurpassed. Every specimen in the sale may be fairly said to be a chef d'ouvre of the particular artist—the range of subjects including history, landscape, figure, genre, fruit, marine, still life, &c., the principal feature being the presence of the world-renowned painting,

"RETURN OF THE REAPERS," BY BECKER, which formed one of the leading attractions in the late Mr. Boker's collection of Dusseldorf pictures. In addition, is a SUPERB FRUIT PIECE, BY PREYER, and examples by BUSINESS CHANCES.

THE OWNERS OF A VALUABLE MINERAL property near this City—the article, both crude and manufactured, is extensively used in the iron and various other trades—desire a party to take an interest, with a capital of $10,000 or more, to introduce the manufacture in New-York City. The business is staple in character, having a real basis in the fact that the advertisers hold a substantial monopoly of the raw material, (itself an article of large sale.) The profits are also large. Apply, for further information, to J. B. PIRSSON, No. 11 Wall-st.

FOR SALE OR TO LET—A BONE-BOILING and bone-burning establishment, near the City, offering great advantages of location and convenience for freighting to and from. Particulars made known on application to Mr. WOOD, No. 596 Broadway. Terms most liberal.

FOR SALE—THE A NO. 1 AT LLOYDS, IRON screw steamers RIGAS FERREOS and GEORGE OLYMPIUS, recently arrived from Liverpool, now lying in the port of Montreal, Canada East. For terms, drawings and specifications, apply to Messrs. JANES & CO., St. Sacrament-st., Montreal.

A PARTNER WANTED—IN THE PRODUCE Commission business; one who can influence consignments to join the advertiser, now established in good location in general storage. To such, with small capital, a favorable chance. Apply to DROWNE & MOORE, No. 208 Broadway.

DRUG-STORE FOR SALE CHEAP—EIGHT miles from the City, doing a good business; no drug-store within a circle of a mile; 5,000 inhabitants. Inquire No. 301 Broadway, for 3 days.

THE ADVERTISER HAS BEEN THIRTY years a merchant in City and country; having recently sold out his business, he would like an agency for some mercantile or manufacturing establishment. Would consent to travel three months in the year. None need apply unless prepared to pay at least $1,500 a year. Address J. K., Box No. 843 New-York Post-office.

BOARDING AND LODGING.

BOARDING IN BROOKLYN.—A PRIVATE family, having a large, well furnished room, with bath, gas, &c., will take a single gentleman; situation convenient to the Wall-street Ferry. Address, with real name and place of business, B, Box No. 117 Times Office.

Such as may be unequal thereto in any particular will be rejected, in which case the contractor will be bound to furnish others of the required kind or quality within three days, or, if that be not done, they will be purchased at his expense. Payment will be made for the goods received on invoices thereof, certified by the agent or agents appointed to inspect them. It is to be understood that the right will be reserved to require a greater or less quantity of any of the articles named than that specified in the above schedule, at the prices proposed, and all bids for furnishing said articles may be rejected at the option of the Department, and that none from persons who have failed to comply with the requirements of a previous contract with the United States, or who are not manufacturers or wholesale dealers in the required articles, will be considered, and the fact that bidders are such manufacturers or dealers must be evidenced by the certificate of the Collector at the port where they reside or where it is proposed to deliver the articles. The proposals must embrace the articles with the quantities thereof as they are arranged in the schedule, with the prices annexed to each, in dollars and cents, at which they are to be furnished, and the amounts must be carried out and footed up.

Said prices and amounts must be so given, without any modification or proposed modification or variation whatever.

They should be submitted with the following heading: I (or we) hereby propose to furnish the service of the Indian Department, and according to the terms of its advertisement thereof, dated October 6, 1863, the following articles, at the prices thereto affixed, (here insert the list,) deliverable in the City of New-York immediately, and, if the proposal be accepted, I (or we) will, within three days thereafter, execute a contract accordingly, and give security satisfactory to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs for the faithful performance of the same. Each proposal must be accompanied with a guarantee in the following form, to be signed by two or more responsible persons, whose sufficiency must be certified to by a United States Judge or District-Attorney:

We hereby jointly and severally guarantee that the above bidder (or bidders) if a contract shall be awarded to him (or them,) according to his (or their) bid or proposal, will execute a contract accordingly, and give the requisite security for the performance thereof, as prescribed in the advertisement for proposals for Indian goods, dated October 6, 1863; and in the event of his (or their) failure so to do, we hereby agree to bind ourselves, our heirs, executors and assigns to forfeit and pay the United States, as damages, a sum not less than fifteen per cent. on the amount of said bid or proposal.

Bonds will be required in the amount of the bid for the faithful performance of the contract, with two or more sureties, whose sufficiency must be certified to by a United States Judge or District Attorney.

No proposal will be considered that does not strictly conform in all particulars to the terms and directions of this advertisement.
WM. P. DOLE, Commissioner.

ORDNANCE OFFICE,
WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Oct. 2, 1863.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at this office until the 26th day of October next, for BANDING and BUSHING the 42-pounder guns, at the forts and arsenals of the United States in the Atlantic States, amounting in number to 200 more or less.

The guns will be delivered at and removed from the establishment where the work is to be done at the cost of the United States.

Proposals for those on the Pacific coast—about 50 in number—will be received until the 10th of December next; and in the case of these, the guns will be delivered at San Francisco or its vicinity.

The guns are to be turned down to a true cylinder for the length of twenty-seven inches from the rear of the base ring prepared to take a band of the best wrought-iron, the interior diameter of which will be twenty inches, and its thickness three inches.

The vent is to be bushed with a new bush of pure ingot copper, one inch in diameter and about nine and a half inches long, and bored with a vent of two-tenths of an inch.

Drawings of the gun in its original form, and with the band put on, can be seen at this office, at the Watertown Arsenal, Mass., at the Watervliet Arsenal, and at the New-York Agency, No. 45 Worth-street, City of New-York; at the Arsenal at Bridesburgh, Penn., and at Allegheny Arsenal, Pittsburgh, Penn.; at the Fort Monroe Arsenal, Va., St. Louis Arsenal, Mo., and Benicia Arsenal, Cal.

The work is to be done to the entire satisfaction of the officer who will be appointed to superintend it, and payment will be made in full for each gun upon his certificate of inspection and receipt.

Proposals will state the price per gun for the whole operation; describe in detail the manner in which it is proposed to put on the band; the number they will band per month, and the time which will be required to do the whole work. The method and the time required for doing the work, as well as the price, will be important elements in considering the bids and awarding the contract.

No bids will be considered from any parties but such as are actually engaged in the manufacture of iron and heavy machinery, and who are, in the opinion of this Department, fully prepared to execute the work. In the case of parties not known to this Department, evidence to the foregoing effect must accompany the proposal.

Bond, with satisfactory sureties, to the amount of fifty per cent of the bid, will be required for the fulfillment of the contract; and the Government reserves the right to reject any or all bids, if deemed unsatisfactory.

Proposals will be indorsed, "Proposals for Banding 42-Pounders," and will be addressed to Brig. Gen. George D. Ramsay, Chief of Ordnance, Washington City.
GEO. D. RAMSAY,
Brigadier-General, Chief of Ordnance.

PROPOSALS FOR HAY, STRAW AND GRAIN.

ASSISTANT QUARTERMASTER'S OFFICE, FORAGE DEPARTMENT, Seventh-st. Wharf,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16, 1863.

Written proposals are invited for furnishing HAY, STRAW, OATS and CORN for the use of this depot, to be delivered at the railroad depot, or at any of the Government wharves in this city.

The proposals to be addressed to the undersigned, and they should state the quantity and grade of each article offered, also the price and the date of delivery.

Proposals will be received for five thousand (5,000) bushels of Corn or Oats, and fifty (50) tons of Hay or Straw, and upward, unless it should be for the interest of the Government to contract for a less amount.

All grain to be put up in good sacks, of about two (2) bushels each, which are to be furnished at the cost of the contractor.

The Hay and Straw to be securely baled.

All Grain and Hay offered to be subject to a rigid inspection by the Government Inspector.

Contracts will be awarded from time to time to the lowest responsible bidders, as the interest of the service may require. Good security will be required for the faithful fulfillment of any contract made under this advertisement.

Payment to be made at the completion of the contract.
S. L. BROWN, Captain and A. Q. M. U. S. A.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and expense than any one can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No 50 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send for a circular, or write.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSFULLY consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world, guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1830. Those who have used their preventives are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH regained in three days by Dr. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and impediments to marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young man, are you subject to that soul and body destroying disease, secret habits? Dr. POWERS' Invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Sold by WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 50 Lispenard-st., between Broadway and Church-st., New-York.

IMPORTANT TO THE MARRIED AND THOSE ABOUT TO BE MARRIED.—Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, has just published the 160th edition of the valuable book, entitled "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION," strictly intended for those whose health or circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York; or can be sent by mail, free of postage, to any part of the United States and Canada, by inclosing $1, and addressing Box No. 1,224 New-York City. For sale by H. RICHARDSON, at No. 1 Vesey-st., (Astor House,) and No. 18 Ann-st.; FEDERHEN & CO., 13 Court-st., Boston.

A PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE —Containing nearly 300 pages, and 150 fine plates and engravings of the anatomy of the sexual organs, in a state of health and disease, with a treatise on self-abuse, its deplorable consequences upon the mind and body, with the author's plan of treatment—the only rational and successful mode of cure, as shown by the report of cases treated. A truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain doubts of their physical condition. Sent, free of postage, to any address on receipt of 25 cents, in specie or postage-stamps. Address Dr. LA CROIX, No. 31 Maiden-lane, Albany, N. Y.

DR. WARD'S MAGICAL INVIGORATORS, IN the form of Pills, will, in fifteen minutes after being taken, make the recipient as vigorous as if nature had never been retarded or debilitated. To the unmarried or single, in every physical exigency, this unrivaled medicine is earnestly recommended as a complete restorative of the nervous system where manhood has been impaired. Procured of Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st., between Broadway and Church-st. Call or send for circulars.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROPS are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in cases of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases. Warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. ☞ Beware of imitations! Purchase directly of Dr POWERS, 50 Lispenard-st., New-York.

DR HUNTER'S RED DROP RESTORES the vigor of youth in four days. Restores manhood to the most shattered system. No. 3 Division-st., New-York, the only place. Beware of bogus Dr. Hunters. The City is full of knaves up to every trick to rob him of his great reputation as a skillful and reliable physician. No other office but No. 3 Division-st. Established in 1834. Eight separate rooms and a private entrance.

SOMETHING FOR EVERY LADY.—DR. WARD'S Great Female Benefactor or Golden Regulating Pills. Infallible in correcting, regulating and removing all obstructions, from whatever cause, and they will never disappoint the anxious patient. Office No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, where Dr. WARD can be consulted, confidentially, day and evening.

DR. JOHNSON, NO. 14 DUANE-ST., MAY be consulted with confidence on private diseases. Thirty years in one specialty enables him to guarantee speedy and permanent cures. N. B.—Those who may have been misled by quack advertisements, nostrums, &c., can call on Dr. J., with the certainty of receiving honorable treatment.

OLD DR. HUBBARD'S FEMALE PILLS are far superior to all others now in use. Price three dollars and five dollars per box. C. N. CRITTENTON, General Agent, No. 38 6th-av., corner of 4th-st. Sent by mail on receipt of price. For sale in Brooklyn at Nos. 20 and 204 Fulton-av.

ADVICE TO LADIES.—IN ALL CASES where infallible medicines are desired, or mode of treatment that never fails, call upon Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, author of "The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion," who treats female complaints exclusively. Office 129 Liberty-st.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attacked it, and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 15 three-cent stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS,

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

MR. GOTTSCHALK's constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

PIANOS. MUSIC

READ THIS. NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE, BUT TRUE.

Our world-renowned PIANOS—the result of all modern improvements—are offered now at extremely low rates. All Pianos warranted for five years, and taken back if not suitable. Our prices are from $250 upward. Dealers and Teachers will find it to their own profit by recommending our Pianos.

MUSIC.—In spite of the high premium on gold and 30 per cent. duties, we concluded to sell all foreign and domestic Music of every description at only 2c. to 3c. per page, (nearly ⅓ of the former prices.)

All orders from the country promptly filled, and mailed, postage paid, on receipt of price.

P. A. WUNDERMANN, No. 629 Broadway, N. Y.

STEINWAY & SONS'

GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others, is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms, Nos. 82 and 84 Walker-st., New-York.

UNITED PIANO-FORTE MAKERS,

EUROPEAN NEWS.

the Polish Memorandum in the Moniteur, M. DE BUDBERG had called upon M. DROUYN DE LHUYS. We are in a position to affirm that since the communication of the last diplomatic document no interview has taken place between M. DE BUDBERG and M. DROUYN DE LHUYS."

The London Times says: "It is not easy to say whether the negotiations between the three Western Powers and the Emperor of Russia are actually concluded for the present year, but for all that the controversy is virtually concluded. The appeal, if appeal there is to be, lies evidently to that ultimate reason, which is no reason at all, but the arbitrament of brute force—the shock of contending Powers. We must rest our hopes for peace evidently more on the moderation of the French than on that of the Russian Government. In the meantime the object has been gained, and Poland is handed over for another six months without a possibility of relief to the Power against which she is so bravely and so vainly struggling."

It is asserted that the Russian Admiralty is making experiments with vessels specially destined, in the event of war, to be sunk in the channels of Cronstadt. A decree has been issued recalling all cavalry officers at present on leave, to their regiments.

Telegrams from Cracow, Lemberg, &c., continue to record engagements and important movements on the part of the insurgents.

The Czas publishes further details of the attempt upon the life of Gen. BERG. It appears that the bomb was not thrown from the Zamoyska Palace, but from the pavement. The soldiers, in revenge, outraged women and pillaged the property of 1,000 inhabitants of Warsaw.

Col. LEBEDINSKY, who took a prominent part in the destruction of Count ZAMOYSKI's palace, was stabbed in Warsaw.

A Berlin journal asserts that Gen. MOURAVIEFF, Governor of Wilna, will be relieved of his functions next month.

INDIA.

The Calcutta and China mails arrived at Marseilles on the 24th, and were expected to reach London in season to be forwarded to America per Persia, via Queenstown.

LATEST VIA LIVERPOOL.

LIVERPOOL, Saturday Evening, Sept. 26.

The prospect of the fall of Charleston is much debated. The friends of the South assert that it will not affect the issue.

The Army and Navy Gazette cannot perceive what great military advantage would accrue from the capture—certainly none equal to the capture of Knoxville and Chattanooga, Vicksburgh and Port Hudson.

The Times to-day editorially labors to show that exhaustion of strength is practically felt by both combatants, in about equal degree, and only wishes it would induce them to terminate the strife.

It is reported that Baron GROS has informed Earl RUSSELL that the opinion of the French Government relative to Polish negotiations is that it is preferable to close a useless discussion.

BOMBAY, Wednesday, Sept. 9.

The man arrested as NENA SAHIB has finally proved not to be him.

LATEST VIA QUEENSTOWN.

LYONS, Saturday, Sept. 26.

The Rhine has overflowed its bed to the height of two metres along the line of Lyons. The country upon the banks of the river is submerged. The Seine has also risen to a considerable height.

PARIS, Saturday, Sept. 26.

The Patrie of this evening says that the question whether the Poles should be recognized in the quality of belligerents has been continually raised by one of the two great maritime Powers.

The Patrie announces the arrival of Chevalier NIGRA at Turin.

The Nation gives, without guaranteeing its accuracy, a report that the Corps Legislatif will be convoked in October.

The Pays denies the truth of the rumor that M. DROUYN DE LHUYS had tendered his resignation.

The same paper contradicts the statement that the Duke DE GRAMMONT had been charged to address communications upon the Polish question to the Austrian Government.

The Pays further states that no intention is entertained of superseding Baron GROS, who will return to London to-morrow. Prince NAPOLEON will also leave for London to-morrow; but his journey has no political bearing.

BERNE, Sunday, Sept. 26.

The Federal Council has decided to withdraw the Swiss Embassy from Japan on account of the political condition of that country.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

Consols on the 25th were weak, and fell ⅛ ℔ cent, closing at 93⅛ a ¼.

The Money market was firm, at 3½ a 4 ℔ cent.

The weekly returns of the Bank of England show a decrease in the bullion of £278,728.

BARING BROS. & Co. quote Bar Silver at 5s. 1½d.; Dollars, 5s. 5¼d.; Eagles, 76s. 2½d.

AMERICAN SECURITIES.

The Daily News City Article says very little business now takes place in the London Market in American Securities, the transactions in which have been, in former times, on so extensive a scale. The fact is that these Securities have been so largely absorbed by the Americans themselves, that the constant exportation of them has left the London Market denuded of stock, and this circumstance renders it now a matter of comparative difficulty to effect dealings. The apparently unabated confidence of the Americans in the future of their country, in spite of the enormous expenditure in progress, is certainly one of the most remarkable features of the day.

BARING, BROS. & Co. say there is very little doing. United States Fives, 66 a 70; United States Sixes, 72 a 76; Virginia Sixes, 40 a 42; Pennsylvania Fives, 69 a 71; Illinois, 14 a 12 discount; Eries, 72 a 74.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

LIVERPOOL, Saturday, Sept. 26—A. M.

COTTON—The Brokers' Circular says: "The market opened with less excitement, but the continued good inquiry for Cloth and Yarn in Manchester has caused prices to harden here, and though the business is smaller in extent than last week, there has daily been a very good demand. Prices close about a farthing dearer in American, ⅜d. in Maceio, ¼d. a ½d. in Egyptian, fully ¼d. in Surat, while China is ⅜d. higher. Bengal, on the other hand, is more freely offered, at rather easier prices. The business 'to arrive' has been extensive. The sales of the week on the spot add up 64,480 bales, of which 23,040 were to speculators and 10,370 to exporters. On Thursday and Friday the market became quiet and prices were a little easier. Sales on Friday about 6,000 bales, one-half being for speculation and export. The quotations for fair Americans are nominal. Middling Orleans is at 27⅞d., Mobiles 27¾d., Uplands 27d., Surats 19d. a 20d. Stock on hand 201,050 bales, including 40,680 American. At sea from India 282,000 bales."

TRADE AT MANCHESTER—The demand yesterday showed some little check, but producers generally were firm and refused to make the slightest concession in prices. Contracts would not be taken except at a further improvement.

BREADSTUFFS—Messrs. BIGLAND, ATHYA & Co., RICHARDSON, SPENCE & Co., and others, report: Flour dull, and to effect sales 6d. ℔ bbl. reduction would have to be made. Wheat also heavy, and 1d. a 2d. cheaper for inferior, but steady for fine; Winter red, 8s. 3d. a 8s. 6d.; Chicago and Milwaukee, 6s. 6d. a 8s. 2d. ℔ 100 lbs. Corn dull, and prices barely maintained; mixed, 28s 6d.; white, 28s. a 29s. ℔ 480 lbs.

PROVISIONS—Messrs. WAKEFIELD, NASH & Co., GORDON, BRUCE & Co. and others report: Beef in moderate demand at steady rates. Pork quiet but firmly held. Bacon, more doing and partially 6d. a 1s. dearer. Butter in good demand for really fine. Lard in more request at 39s. 6d. a 40s. 6d. Tallow active and 6d. a 1s. dearer. North American, 41s a 43s.

PRODUCE—The Brokers' Circular reports: Ashes in rather more demand; Pots, 29s. 6d. a 30s.; Pearls, 33s. a 34s. Sugar quiet, but firm. Coffee in steady demand at full prices. Rice a shade lower, and in better demand at the decline. Bark—Sales of Philadelphia at 9s. 6d., and Baltimore at 7s. Linseed very flat and 1s. lower. Linseed Oil quiet at 44s. 6d. Nothing doing in Cod Oil. Jute in speculative demand, and 10s. a 20s. dearer. Spirits of Turpentine—Sales of American on private terms; French opened firm, but closed dull at 70s. Resin—American Common sold at 30s.

PETROLEUM—Messrs. BOULT, ENGLISH & BRANDON report a quiet market. Refined, 2s. 6d. on the spot, and 2s. 6d. a 2s. 7½d. for forward delivery. Crude Pennsylvanian, £20 a £21.

LONDON MARKETS.

Messrs. BARING BROS. & Co. report: BREADSTUFFS quiet and still tending down. IRON firm; Pigs, 58s. 6d. a 59s.; Bars, £6 10s. a £6 15s.; Rails, £6 10s. SUGAR in demand, at full prices. COFFEE flat and partially 1s. lower. RICE in fair demand. TEA—Nothing doing. TALLOW has fluctuated, closing quiet at 44s. a 44s. 3d. SPIRITS OF TURPENTINE have declined to 75s. for French. CRUDE PETROLEUM, £21; Refined, 2s. 7d. SPERM OIL dull, £80. LINSEED OIL scarce, 43s. 6d. COD OIL, £56.

From California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Tuesday, Oct. 6—11 P. M.

The editor of the Aurora Times, ESMERALDA, fought a duel yesterday with Dr. RICHILLOTE. The editor's ankle was shattered.

GOVS. NYE and DOTY have made treaties with the Shoshone Indians. All the tribes between Fort Bridger and Reese River are friendly.

PRESENTATION TO YOUNG NICOLO AT THE ALHAMBRA PAVILION.—This remarkable artist and youthful rival of the Parisian LEOTARD, has been creating quite a furore at the Alhambra. He has a farewell benefit on Saturday, appearing afternoon and evening. Numerous admirers of this lad intend, in the evening, to present him with a gold medal, value $250, as a mark of admiration for his intrepidity, grace and skill; it was manufactured by BALL, BLACK & Co. Master NICOLO sails for Havana next week to fulfill engagements; to and including Saturday he appears afternoon and evening at the Alhambra. The Bedouin Arabs continue to astonish the audiences, and on Monday the famed Parisian equestrienne, Mme. MARIE MACARTE, makes her first appearance.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.

Meeting of the Shareholders—The Prospects Brilliant.

An exceedingly interesting meeting of the shareholders of the Atlantic Telegraph Company commenced at 1 P. M. yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce. Every seat and available space was occupied, and in the concourse was represented every great interest immediately connected with telegraphing enterprise. The venerable PETER COOPER was called to the chair, and J. A. STEVENS, Jr., performed the duties of Secretary.

Unusual interest was felt in this occasion as Mr. CYRUS W. FIELD was announced among the members as being ready to make a general statement of the progress and prospects of the Cable. Among those present were Messrs. WILSON G. HUNT, AMOS KENDALL, Prof. MORSE, C. GODFREY GUNTHER, MARSHALL LEFFERTS, Judge CATRON, of Illinois, HIRAM SIBLEY, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, Col. SANFORD, Government Censor, and Col. STAGER, Superintendent of Telegraphs for the Government.

Mr. ARCHIBALD, the British Consul at this port, was also a deeply interested participant in the meeting.

Mr. COOPER, the Chairman, having briefly stated the object of the meeting to be for the purpose of affording the shareholders an opportunity of hearing Mr. FIELD state the results of his recent visit to England, and inquiries there relative to the great cable, Mr. FIELD took the floor, amid warm applause, and entered upon a recapitulation of the labors of the British Committee on the Ocean Telegraph, who had been testing the different kinds of cable for five years past, exhausting upon it every resource of human science and ingenuity. He then read the following report:

As to the practicability of submerging a cable across the Atlantic Ocean, and as to its permanence when laid. Certificate signed by all the members of the Committee appointed by the Board of Trade to inquire into the question of ocean telegraphy.

LONDON, July 13, 1863.

We, the undersigned, members of the Committee who were appointed by the Board of Trade in 1859 to investigate the question of submarine telegraphy, and whose investigation continued from that time to April, 1861, do hereby state as the result of our deliberations, that a well insulated cable, properly protected, of suitable specific gravity, made with care, and tested under water throughout its progress with the best known apparatus, and payed into the ocean with the most improved machinery, possesses every prospect of not only being successfully laid in the first instance, but may reasonably be relied upon to continue for many years in an efficient state for the transmission of signals.

No sooner had this statement, brief as it is, been read, than public confidence in England at once revived in reference to the great enterprise. To sustain this buoyant feeling the success of the cable, 1,535 miles in length, between Malta on the island and Alexandria in Egypt, had also been absolute, and now the entire amount of capital necessary for the work (£600,000) had already been obtained, the contract completed and the work already started, so that another year should see telegraphic communication established between the two hemispheres.

Mr. FIELD here read the annexed documents to fortify the sanguine belief of all concerned in the triumphant and early success of the great enterprise.

GUTTA PERCHA COMPANY, PATENTEES,
WHARF ROAD, CITY ROAD, N.,
LONDON, June 15, 1863.

To Cyrus W. Field, Esq., Palace Hotel, Buckingham Gate:

DEAR SIR: We have the pleasure to hand you herewith a detailed list of the various submarine telegraph cables now in successful operation,* the insulated wires for which have been manufactured by us during the last twelve years. From this you will observe that fifty-two submarine cables, containing nearly 10,000 miles of conducting wires, are in daily use.

We are happy to inform you that we have received reports from the principal telegraph electricians and engineers, in which they state that since the first submarine cable was laid, (twelve years ago,) up to the present time, they have never, in any instance, perceived the slightest deterioration in the gutta percha.

With the vast improvements which have taken place in the treatment of that material for the manufacture of Insulated Wires, we feel confident that, at the present time, we can produce a core for a Submarine Cable which will in every respect meet the electrical requirements for telegraphic communication between Ireland and Newfoundland. We believe that the experience obtained, and the improvements in machinery employed in paying out Submarine Cables since the laying of the last Atlantic Cable in 1858, have removed all the difficulties then existing, and we feel satisfied that another attempt will be attended with perfect success.

We beg to inclose a specimen of the 1,045 nautical miles of core for the Persian Gulf Cable, which we are now manufacturing for Her Majesty's Government.

We remain, dear Sir, yours very truly,
THE GUTTA PERCHA COMPANY.
HENRY FORD BARCLAY.

Letter in reference to the electrical laws affecting the speed of working through long submarine cables from the celebrated CROMWELL F. VARLEY, Esq., Electrician to the Electric and International as well as the Atlantic Telegraph Companies; and W. THOMSON, Esq., LL. D., F. R. S., Professor of Natural Philosophy in the University of Glasgow:

THE ELECTRIC AND INTERNATIONAL TELEGRAPH CO.,
TELEGRAPH-STREET, LONDON, E. C., July 1, 1863.

Cyrus W. Field, Esq., Atlantic Telegraph Co.:

MY DEAR SIR: I have, during your absence in America, completed the apparatus contemplated at the time of your departure last December, and have tested them on various lengths of submarine lines.

Enough has been ascertained to leave no doubt that we shall be able to telegraph through an Atlantic cable direct from Ireland to Newfoundland at the speeds given in the annexed table, depending upon the size of the copper conductor, the weight of gutta percha, and the length of circuit.*

The speeds indicated in this table might be much increased by a proper system of coding.

I am, my dear Sir, yours very truly,
(Signed) CROMWELL FLEETWOOD VARLEY.

From my experience on the old Atlantic cable, both before and after its submersion, and during the time it was being laid, and from estimates founded on the general theory, of which I have shown the principles in papers published in the proceedings of the Royal Society, I feel perfect confidence that the speeds stated by Mr. VARLEY in the preceding letter are attainable with the general European Morse Telegraphic Alphabet.

I have no doubt that considerably higher speeds may be practically realized by adopting some system better adapted to meet the peculiar circumstances of a great submarine telegraph.

(Signed) WILLIAM THOMSON.

Then came a letter from JOHN W. BRETT, Deputy Chairman of the Submarine Telegraph Company, as to the number and duration of the cables laid by that Company, with an accompanying list, here necessarily omitted:

SUBMARINE TELEGRAPH OFFICE,
NO. 58 THREADNEEDLE-STREET, LONDON, July 3, 1863.

DEAR MR. FIELD: In answer to your inquiry respecting the duration of our Company's Submarine Telegraph cables, the following may be relied on as correct:

Our Submarine Telegraph Company laid the very first telegraph cable (namely, that between Dover and Calais,) on the 25th September, 1851, since which date they have laid six other submarine telegraph cables, and they have never lost a single cable.

Our seven submarine cables make an aggregate length of 865 miles, and contain 2,587 miles of electric conductors, which are in good working order.

The depths between England and the Continent of Europe average only 30 fathoms; it is this fact which constitutes our greatest danger, as the Cables are sometimes broken in consequence of vessels dragging their anchors in a storm. I may add, however, that such breakages are now repaired with great facility.

On repairing the Dover and Calais Cable some months since (which had been broken by a ship's anchor,) the conductors insulated in Gutta Percha proved to be as perfect as when they were first laid—eleven years previous.

To this is added a list of our several Submarine Telegraph Cables, with their length, the extent of their several Electric Conductors, and the dates at which they were laid down.

I remain, yours very truly,
(Signed.) JOHN W. BRETT.

Lists of fifty-two submarine cables in Europe and ninety-five in America, in successful operation, the earliest dating no further back than 1851, were then shown by Mr. FIELD.

Thus assured of the feasibility of the enterprise, the Company advertised for proposals and received eight answers, all of which were submitted to a committee of five gentlemen of great scientific eminence, who unanimously agreed upon giving the contract to GLASS, ELLIOTT & Co., because, first, they subscribe £65,000 like any other shareholders; second, because they did not require payment of profits until a year after the laying of the cable; third, because they thus were interested; and fourth, owing to the success that hitherto had attended their operations.

The letter of the firm is here annexed:

NO. 23 GREAT GEORGE-STREET,
WESTMINSTER, June 15, 1863.

Cyrus W. Field, Esq., Palace Hotel, Buckingham Gate:

DEAR SIR: Referring to our conversation this morning, we beg to state:

That we are perfectly confident that a good and durable submarine telegraph cable can be laid direct across the Atlantic, from Ireland to Newfoundland, a distance of 1,640 miles, and have offered to undertake the contract upon the following conditions:

First—That we shall be paid each week our actual disbursements for labor and material.

Second—That when the cable is laid and in working order, we shall receive for our time, services and profit 20 per cent. on the actual cost of the line, in shares of the Company, deliverable to us in twelve monthly installments, at the end of each successive month whereat the cable shall be found in working order.

We are so confident that this enterprise can be successfully carried out, and highly remunerative when in operation, that we have made a cash subscription for a sum of £65,000 sterling in the new capital of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, and have paid the first call of 20 per cent., amounting to £13,000 sterling, on the same, and shall pay the further calls as made by the Directors.

We would wish you to understand that, in undertaking to manufacture and lay the Atlantic Telegraph Cable, we have so fully weighed the chance of success, that we do so without hesitation. A failure would be a far greater injury to the future prospects of our business than the loss of our subscription of capital.

Annexed we hand you, for your guidance, a list of all the Submarine Telegraph Cables, thirty-one in number, and of an aggregate length of 4,172 statute miles, containing a total length of 7,002 statute miles of separate insulating conducting wires, manufactured and laid by our firm since we commenced this branch of our business; the whole mileage of which is at this time in perfect and successful working order, with the exception of the short length between Liverpool and Holyhead, which was broken by the anchor of the Royal Charter, in the gale of wind just before she was wrecked, and which has since been taken up, and that portion of the France and Algiers cable between Minorca and Algiers, which doubtless was injured by lightning, from the omission to attach lightning conductors to the end of the cable on the Algiers coast. The cable is now in course of being repaired.

We would suggest that the shore end of the Atlantic Cable should be composed of very heavy wires, to prevent injury by ships' anchors, in shallow water.

The cable that we would recommend for the Atlantic will be an improvement on all those yet manufactured, and we firmly believe will be imperishable when once successfully laid.

We remain, Sir, yours faithfully,
GLASS, ELLIOT & CO.

To these gentlemen the work was awarded, and they were so enthusiastic that they had agreed to take all the stock remaining unsubscribed for on the 1st of November. The whole matter is now in high favor in London, and even the British Government had bestowed a mark of confidence in allowing the Company to increase their charges accordingly as they succeeded in bringing in investments. Hence shareholders were certain to find this a remunerative investment. Mr. FIELD proceeded with a most interesting detail of all the improvements made by successive experiments, a description of the cable and other particulars, already published in full. He concluded with an appeal to all present to further aid the work. Only $67,000, thus far, had been subscribed in America, and, if more money was not offered, the contractors would control the stock.

WATTS SHERMAN, Esq., warmly moved a vote of thanks to Mr. FIELD, and a proposition to have his report printed for distribution among the stockholders. Adopted.

The subjoined resolution was then passed, and the meeting adjourned:

Resolved, That the energy and judgment displayed by CYRUS W. FIELD in his arduous and persevering efforts to form and sustain the Atlantic Telegraph Company, cannot be too highly commended, and that we are confident that this magnificent undertaking, with which his name is identified, and which owes more to him than to any other man, is about to be crowned with success.

On the table in front of the Chairman's desk was exhibited a showcase containing specimens of some score of different kinds of submarine wires, and Mr. FIELD had with him a length of several feet of the great one to be laid in the North Atlantic. The delegates present from the American Telegraph Association now in session in this City, examined all the specimens with scrutinizing care.

* Some 60 in number, and ranging from 1⅛ to 1,535 miles long in various depths of water from 14 to 1,550 fathoms.

* The highest rate on the table is with 572 pounds copper and 896 pounds gutta percha per nautical mile, with 1,468 pounds of core; 16 words per minute through 1,880 nautical miles.

Paterson Running Races.

The second day's races were very brilliantly attended yesterday, and the four races which were on the programme for the day's entertainment, were run to the great satisfaction of everybody. The ladies were more numerous, and quite a number of them reached the Course by the various trains of the Erie Railroad. Everything wore a holiday aspect, and no untoward circumstance occurred to mar the harmony and respectability of the proceedings.

The first race was for a sweepstake premium of $300, for two-year olds, carrying 90 pounds, mile dash, and was won by Mr. JOHN M. CLAY's bay colt Kentucky, which, after running second to Mr. WATSON's Minnie Minor halfway round the three-quarter turn, challenged for the lead, and passed the three-quarter pole a length ahead, and came over the score an easy winner by three lengths in 1.49½.—Mr. ACKERMAN's Eagle a bad third. Kentucky, and another Lexington, two-year old—Arcolo, brother to the well-known George Cotton—were sold for $6,000 immediately after the race by Mr. CLAY.

SUMMARY.

Sweepstake Premium of $300 for 2-year olds; to carry 90 pounds; $100 entrance, $50 forfeit; one-mile dash.

Mr. John M. Clay enters b. c. Kentucky, by Lexington, dam Magnolia, by imp. Glencoe. 1.

Mr. James S. Watson enters b. f. Minnie Milnor, by Lexington, dam Julia, by imp. Glencoe. 2.

Mr. John P. Ackerman enters ch. c. Eagle, by Vandal, dam by imp. Sovereign. 3.

Mr. J. W. Pennock enters b. c. by Vandal, dam by Trustee. Drawn.

Mr. F. Morris enters b. c. by imp. Eclipse, dam C. S. Loyd's gray mare. Drawn.

Mr. Wm. H. Strong enters b. c. Rip Van Winkle, by Mahomet, dam by Woodpecker. Drawn.

Mr. James S. Watson enters b. c. by Two Bits, dam Nannie Lewis, by imp. Glencoe. Drawn.

Mr. James S. Watson enters b. f. by imp. Eclipse, dam Poeta, by Revenue. Drawn.

Mr. John M. Clay enters ch. f. George Wood, by Knight of St. George, dam Margaret Woods, by Priam. Drawn. Time, 1 49½.

The second race, premium of $200, for all ages, mile heats, was won by Capt. MOORE's Ben West, who beat Rebecca T. Price and Hillsborough easily in both heats. Time—1.50, 1.50.

The third race was for a selling purse, $300, 2½-mile dash, which was finely contested between Mr. FRANCIS MORRIS' Throg's Neck, (with an allowance of 21 pounds,) who was the favorite, and beat Mr. CLAY's Anna Travis five lengths, who was lapped at the score by Mr. HUNTER's Rouble; the Canada horse, Harper, a bad fourth. Time—4 40½.

The celebrated GILPATRICK rode Throg's Neck, who was the favorite at 2 to 1.

The fourth race, local sweepstakes, 1⅛ mile dash, with seven entries, was a very closely-contested and exciting race between Mr. E. B. COLT's colt Abu Beker, (which was distanced at the Spring meeting, after winning the race, on account of the little jockey crossing one of the other horses,) Dr. WELDON's Sympathy, Mr. STRONG's Punch and Dr. WELDON's Canary Bird. The last never approached the others, who ran well together for a mile, when Punch fell off, and, after an exciting brush by Sympathy to take the lead from Abu Beker, and which he had kept throughout, Abu passed over the score, half a length in front, in 2.46. SICKLES rode the winner, and GILPATRICK rode Sympathy.

Mr. E. B. Colt enters ch. c. Abu Beker, 3 years old, by Mahomet, dam Rescue, by Bethune.

J. W. Weldon enters b. m. Sympathy, 4 years old, by imp. Scythian, dam Prunella, by imp. Glencoe.

W. H. Strong enters ch. c. Punch, 4 years old, by Mahomet, dam by imp. Yorkshire.

Mr. J. W. Weldon enters ch. f. Canary Bird, (own sister to Blackbird,) 3 years old, by imp. Albion.

Mr. D. Holsman enters b. f. Anna, 3 yrs old, by Mahomet, dam by Woodpecker. Drawn.

Mr. James S. Watson enters b. f. 3 years old, by Lexington, dam Kate Hays by imp. Albion. Drawn.

Mr. L. Paul enters (Mr. Godwin's) br. c., 3 years old by Lexington, dam Occidental 2d. Drawn.

Mr. L. Paul enters (Mr. Godwin's) f. Letty Shannon, 3 yrs old, by Lexington, dam Sally Shannon. Drawn.

Mr. D. G. Scott enters b. h. Velox, 4 years old, by Vandal, dam Nebraska, by imp. Sovereign. Drawn.

LAST DAY'S RACES.

The races for to-day are a sweepstakes $500, two-mile heats, ten entries.

A purse $800, three-mile heats, which will be run for by Mr. HOGAN's Canadian horse Thunder, and Mr. MORRISSEY's John B. Davidson, late Jerome Edgar.

And a premium $200, 1⅛ mile heats, for which are entered Seven Oaks, Rouble and Skedaddle.

The races take place rain or shine, and the cars go nearly to the grand stand, which is inclosed.

The Sixth Provost-Marshal District.

The difficulties in the Provost-Marshal office of the Sixth District have culminated in a dead lock, so far as the consideration of the claims for exemption on the grounds of alienship are concerned. Marshal FARR claims that the simple oath of alienage is sufficient for exemption, and for the Board to act upon. The majority of the Board, Commissioner LAMONT and Surgeon POWELL, deny that the oath is sufficient, and claim that it should be corroborated by the records in the County Clerk's office. Clerks to search the records have been appointed by the majority of the Board; but Capt. FARR refuses to recognize them, and denies that the majority has power to appoint anybody for any position, claiming all that power for himself. Meanwhile the cases of all those parties claiming to be aliens are laid over, and amount to at least three hundred for the past six weeks. It certainly would appear that while the search would be productive of much good it could in no case be of any harm.

FATAL STABBING AFFRAY IN WATER-STREET—ARREST OF THE OFFENDER.—An inquest was held yesterday on the body of JOHN E. MCKENZIE, who died at the New-York Hospital, from injuries received at the hands of JAMES CROSS. The facts of the case, as they appeared on the inquest, are as follows: On Sunday afternoon last, CROSS and the deceased met in the grocery-store of CONRAD HALSBERG, No. 685 Water-street, where they had an altercation. After quarreling some time, the parties adjourned to the dock to have a fight. There the deceased struck CROSS a blow on the breast with his fist, whereupon the two clenched, and a severe struggle ensued, during which CROSS was seen to give deceased a heavy push in the side, but no knife was seen in his hand at the time. The deceased then threw up his hands, opened his vest, and exclaimed, "That man has stabbed me," and immediately fell to the ground. He was taken to the New-York Hospital, where he died yesterday morning. The wound inflicted was in the lower part of the abdomen. Immediately after committing the deed, CROSS held up the knife, which was dripping with the blood of his victim, and then suddenly started to run away. Officer BOYD, of the Thirteenth Precinct, started in pursuit, and after much effort, succeeded in arresting him. The knife with which the wound was inflicted was found on the person of the prisoner. When arrested, CROSS said: "I cut the man, but I did it in self-defence." Dr. FOSTER, House Surgeon of the Hospital, made a post-mortem examination of the body. He found two stab wounds in the lower part of the abdomen, either one of which were, in his judgment, sufficient to cause death. The jury rendered a verdict "that the deceased, JOHN E. MCKENZIE, came to his death from a stab wound at the hands of JAMES CROSS, on the 4th day of October inst." The deceased was 33 years of age, and a native of Connecticut. The prisoner is 34 years of age, a machinist by occupation, and resided at No. 683 Water-street. Coroner NAUMANN committed him to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury.

FROM GEN. ROSECRANS' ARMY.

Reports via Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

Correspondents who left Gen. ROSECRANS's army on the 2d instant report that his position is a perfectly safe one.

More reinforcements were near. Troops were constantly arriving from the West and elsewhere.

The rebel cavalry cannot seriously interfere with Gen. ROSECRANS' supplies, and great confidence is felt here in the situation. It is believed that a great battle must soon be fought, as the rebels recognize the fact that a protracted seige will avail them nothing, but weaken them much.

Their information of our condition is too exact to lead them to suppose that they can starve us out, and the chances of reverse or failure in Tennessee are just now for them too desperate to permit longer suspense than is positively necessary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF.

Reported Battle at Brashear City—Franklin's Corps Repulsed—Ord's Corps Whips the Rebels.

CHICAGO, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

The Evening Journal has information from passengers just from New-Orleans to the effect that FRANKLIN's corps was repulsed in an attack upon the rebels at Brashear City, and that ORD's Thirteenth Army corps shortly afterward came up and completely defeated the rebels.

No particulars or dates are given. The news is said to have been officially communicated to Gen. SHERMAN at Memphis.

[Inasmuch as Gen. ORD's corps has been reported to be in quiet possession of Brashear City for several weeks, this news may be regarded as decidedly unreliable.—ED. TIMES.]

INSIDE NEWS FROM CHARLESTON.

The Torpedoes in the Harbor a Failure—Hegira of the Terror-Stricken Inhabitants.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Oct. 7.

A blockade-runner, captured to-day while attempting to cross the Potomac, furnishes interesting news from Charleston. He left on the 28th of September. The torpedoes sunk by the rebels in the harbor have become perfectly useless from their long immersion in water, and cannot be fired from the galvanic batteries on shore. During the bombardment of Fort Moultrie our gunboats were over them several times, and everybody in Charleston expected to witness the ascent of our iron-clads. The idea of raising the blockade through the agency of torpedoes has been abandoned.

People are removing their goods from the city, very fearful of the opening of the bombardment. They are terribly afraid of Greek fire.

REBEL DEMONSTRATION IN MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Wednesday, Oct. 7.

Intelligence received at headquarters here state that about 2,000 rebels, from MARMADUKE's command, under Col. SHELBY, have entered Southwest Missouri from Arkansas, for raiding purposes.

Our troops were concentrating upon them from several points, and their capture was not improbable. It is believed that this force is intended to be the nucleus of the Missouri State Guard, the organization of which, since the capture of JEFF. THOMPSON, it is said, has been placed in the hands of WALDO P. JOHNSON, late United States Senator from Missouri.

FROM THE WEST INDIES.

The Rebellion in St. Domingo—The Capital to be Made the Spanish Base of Operations.

HAVANA, Saturday, Oct. 3.

There has been no new arrival from Mexico, though the steamer from Vera Cruz is over due, with Gen. FOREY on board, en route to France.

We have news from Matamoras to the 12th ult., at which time the French had not occupied that port.

By way of Batabano we have letters from Truxillo, Honduras, to the 12th ult. The civil war between MONTEZ and MEDINA was still going on, but no important event had taken place.

The Spanish merchant steamer Ciudad Condal arrived on Thursday morning, from Puerto Plata the 26th ult. She brought three State prisoners, who have been confined in the Moro Castle. One is a lawyer and the other two priests of St. Domingo. This steamer also brought eleven refugees.

Puerta Plata had been declared inadequate as a base of operations, and the troops concentrated there had been ordered to concentrate at Santo Domingo City.

It is said that Gen. SANTANA has collected about 3,000 men, but wants arms. Owing to the suppression of the truth, and the publication of false news by the papers, thousands of rumors prevail, and keep us in suspense and doubt.

It appears that the troops that abandoned Santiago left their sick and wounded in the hands of the rebels. We are told that several fights occurred on the march to Puerto Plata, in which the rebels were always defeated and dispersed.

Puerto Plata is to be made an intrenched camp, with Gen. PRIMO DE RIVERA in command.

Gen. GANDARA has to leave on the 29th ult. for the capital, where a plan was to be arranged for a vigorous and united campaign.

The steam transport St. Quintin, leaves Havana to-day with provisions for the City of Santo Domingo. The war steamer Blanca also leaves soon with artillery.

The Prenza says Brig.-Gen. SIBILA was to leave yesterday afternoon on the war steamer Blasco de Garay for Port-au-Prince, charged with an important mission to the Government of Hayti.

It is reported that the steamer Almendares sank at sea, two days out from Cienfuegos. It is some time since she has been heard of, but I know of no good authority for the above report. Mr. MAURICE, of the house of ANASTASIO MILLOT, was a passenger by her.

To-day's Diario contains an account of another tragedy in Sagua. During a marriage ceremony the bride, a Miss LEAL, was shot. No clue to the assassin has been discovered. This is the fifth murder committed, and the third lady killed in that vicinity, and yet none of the perpetrators have been convicted.

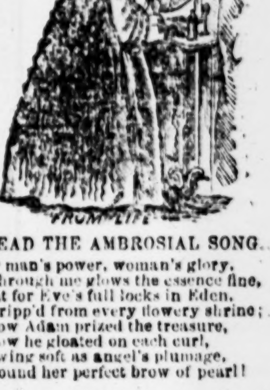
GO AND SEE DR. H. H. STERLING,
No. 493 BROADWAY,
Where he has the AMBROSIA for sale which causes the hair to grow.



READ THE AMBROSIAL SONG.

For man's power, woman's glory,
Through me glows the essence fine,
That for Eve's full locks in Eden,
Dripp'd from every flowery shrine;
O how Adam prized the treasure,
How he gloated on each curl,
Flowing soft as angel's plumage,
Round her perfect brow of pearl!

Would you have this power, this glory?
Would you laugh at changing time?
Would you dread not blighting fever,
Or the aridness of clime?
Would you be like your first parents,
With a glorious crown of hair,
Waving, curling, glowing o'er you,
In the dryest, darkest air?

Hate you scurf's disease and dandruff?
Love you cleanliness like those
Who made their exquisite toilet,
Long ago by Eden's rose?
Wish you for the perfect beauty?
Pine you for the fadeless glow?
Then without a doubt of triumph,
To my guardian STERLING go!
